DARROW CHIEF COUNSEL FOR 'MONKEY MAN'

COURT ACTION OVER BOUT AT VERNON

Michael Curran, Claiming To Be Manager Of Melcar, Brings Injunction

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Branded as the first blow in a boxing "war" between Los Angeles promoters, Michael Curran, claiming to be manager of Henry Melcar, Detroit middleweight, today brought suit here in superior court asking an injunction to prevent Melcar from boxing Bert Colima of Los Angeles at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena tonight.

Doyle charged the suit was filed a few hours before the fight in order to injure his card.

Curran asked that Melcar put up $5,000 bond to guarantee him 35 per cent of the boxer's earnings tonight, claiming he held a five-year contract with Melcar.

Following filing of the suit, rumors were broadcast that promoters had launched a bitter fight as a result of rivalry attending the consent of the State Athletic commission for monthly open air shows here.

Dick Donald, who promoted the lightweight elimination fights here Saurday, had partially completed plans for a July 4 card, when the commission announced yesterday Doyle would be given the only outdoor date here in July.

Mickey Walker Seeking Postponement Of Contest

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Italian hospital show in which Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, is scheduled to fight Harry Greb, will be postponed from June 19 if a suitable later date is proposed, it was announced by the State Boxing commission this afternoon.

Request for the postponement was made by Humbert J. Fugazy, the promoter, on behalf of Walker, who today underwent an operation for an infected toe. Fugazy was given until Friday to propose another date.

Government To Probe Conspiracies In Trade

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Conspiracies to fix prices and limit production will be prosecuted with the utmost vigor by the government, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared today, in connection with the recent supreme court decision defining the legal activities of the trade associations.

Legitimate functions of trade associations make for a sounder economic fabric and healthy conditions, according to Hoover, who said the big majority of these organizations are operating for the general good of business and the consumer.

Girl Slayer Stands Operation Well, Report

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Dorothy Ellingson, youthful matricide, was operated on for appendicitis at the St. Francis hospital here this morning. Her condition was reported as "very satisfactory." Dr. T. D'Arcy Quinn, county jail physician, performed the operation. How long Dorothy would remain in the hospital could not be ascertained. She went under the ether at 8 o'clock and the operation was performed immediately afterward.

Soviet Gives Mining Rights To Americans

MOSCOW, June 9.—It was expected here today that the representative of the W. A. Harriman interests of New York would sign a concession agreement tomorrow with the Soviet government which would give the Harriman interests exclusive rights to mine manganese in the Caucasus mountains.

Harriman is said to have agreed to post $1,000,000 as a guarantee to carry through the concession with an expenditure of $4,000,000 for improvements and to post another $1,000,000 as advance royalties.

CHINESE MOBS HURL MUD ON AMERICANS

Attack Bluejackets But Are Driven Away; Warning Of Demonstration

SHANGHAI, June 9.—Mobs of Chinese threw mud today at American bluejackets stationed at the border settlement to guard foreigners from overt acts by the Chinese on general strike against all foreigners.

Chinese constabulary intervened and drove them off before the Americans were forced to take action. Ten British river and coast steamers failed to sail last night and this morning because of a walkout of members of the Chinese seamen's union. The union threatens to call out enough men to tie up all shipping, including trans-Pacific and union liners.

Strike agitators are directing their strongest efforts against Japanese and British subjects in an attempt to effect a nation-wide boycott of all Japanese and British goods.

Americans Get Warning To Remain Off Streets

PEKING, June 9.—Americans and other foreigners were warned by the foreign office today to keep off the streets during the student demonstration scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

The warning was handed to the foreign legations who were advised to keep their nationals out of sight during the parade to minimize the possibility of trouble.

SHOOTS HUSBAND

TACOMA, Wash., June 9.—Angered because her husband intended to separate from her, Mrs. W. R. Jones shot her husband through the jugular vein with a revolver at their home here today. Jones, aged 40, locomotive engineer, is in a serious condition in a hospital here. His wife is being held.

SEEK REINSTATEMENT

PASADENA, June 9.—Five members of the Pasadena police force, discharged a year ago because it was charged they were members of the Ku Klux Klan, applied to the Board of City Directors for reinstatement today, "without prejudice and with time records unbroken."

SAVED FROM FLAMES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—A series of spectacular rescues featured a fire which early today destroyed a lodging house at Fifth and Brannan streets. Four men were burned in making their escape from the burning building. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

DEFENSE GETS AID OF NOTED ATTORNEY

Veteran Chicago Lawyer to Act for John T. Scopes In Evolution Case

NEW YORK, June 9.—Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago attorney, will be chief counsel for John T. Scopes, Tennessee school teacher, indicted for violating the state's anti-evolution law, at Scopes' trial at Dayton, July 10.

First definite announcement to this effect was made this afternoon by Forest Bailey, acting director of the American Civil Liberties union, which is supplying Scopes with the materials of defense.

Darrow was chief defense counsel in the famous Leopold-Loeb murder trial.

The announcement came near the close of a day of conferences, in which Darrow, who arrived from Chicago this morning, and Scopes participated.

Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state and law partner of the late President Wilson, this afternoon was added to the list of "active counsel" who will defend Scopes.

Referee Quits, Cannot See Bankruptcy Plan

SANTA BARBARA, June 9.—Declaring he "could not sanction the plan for settling debts" in the $10,000,000 bankruptcy of E. G. Lewis, Atascadero land promoter and former St. Louis publisher, W. P. Butcher, Jr., an attorney, today filed his resignation as referee in bankruptcy for Santa Barbara county.

The plan to which Butcher objected calls for issuance of certificates to real estate upon a deposit of 20 per cent of the amount of the claims against Lewis to pay off a million-dollar mortgage held by a San Francisco bank.

Herbert Hoover's Son To Wed At Stanford

PALO ALTO, Cal., June 9.—Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Miss Margaret Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Watson of San Francisco, will be married in the Stanford University Memorial church, June 25, it was learned here today. Both are Stanford seniors. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Sr., will be present at the ceremony.

Plan New Trial Of Damaged Dirigible

LAKEHURST, N. J., June 9.—Another attempt to fly the dirigible Los Angeles to Minneapolis for the Norse-American centennial will be made toward the end of this week, George W. Steele, commander of the airship, announced today. The first attempt ended near Cleveland when the dirigible developed engine trouble.

AWAITING ACTION

PASADENA, Cal., June 9.—C. W. Koiner, city manager of Pasadena, was waiting today for the Board of City Directors to take action on his resignation, which he presented, to be effective July 1. Koiner said he resigned to give the city directors a chance to carry out their policies under any city manager desired.

Hot Weather Is Promised Eastern U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The weather will be partly cloudy with probability of local thunder showers east of the Mississippi river during the next twenty-four or thirty-six hours, the weather bureau announced today.

The temperature will rise in New England, New Jersey, Delaware and the southeastern portions of New York and Pennsylvania, while cooler weather will overspread the lower lake region and the Ohio valley Wednesday afternoon and night.

LEGISLATORS TELL REASONS FOR VOTE ON EVOLUTION LAW

Reveal Underlying Motives Causing Passage of Bill; Claim State Has Right to Direct Education

Nothing since the introduction of the Einstein theory of relativity has aroused more discussion in the scientific world than the indictment and approaching trial of a Tennessee high school teacher for instructing his pupils in the theory of the evolution of man.

Scientists who have long accepted Darwinism have perplexedly asked themselves "why was this law passed?" The answer is contained in the story below.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, June 9.—Tennessee's famous evolution law, under which young Professor "Johnny" Scopes is to be tried and probably convicted, for teaching high school students that they evolved from lower forms of life through natural processes, was passed because an overwhelming majority of Tennessee's lawmakers believe that the theory of evolution "interferes with the Bible."

And it would pass again, if put to the test. The uproar that the law has caused, the ridicule heaped upon it by scientists and men of learning generally have in no way operated to change the minds of Tennessee legislators on this point. These facts were disclosed today when International News Service invited a number of Tennessee legislators to explain their votes on the measure. Opinions on both sides were sought and the replies afford an interesting insight into basic, underlying motives that inspired the adoption of this much-talked-of legislation. One legislator, Senator W. Mack Fuqua of Nashville, who did not vote for or against because he was denied "the privilege of debating it" frankly, declared the law was passed because the representatives of the rural districts were to vote "no," and then explain it back home, where fundamentalism is taught from the cradle.

"My objection to the bill," he said, "was not based upon whether the theory of evolution was inconsistent with the Bible, but rather on the principle that church and state should be separate for governmental reasons. Their attempted unity has left bloodstained tracks through the pages of European history.

"Most legislators supported the measure because they were afraid of a possible public sentiment, especially in the rural districts, where religious principles are more devoutly entertained and exercised.

"Lack of moral courage to vote convictions was largely responsible for the passage of this measure, as for many others."

But Senator Fuqua was woefully in the minority. The bill passed the Senate 20 to 6 and the House 89 to 3, illustrating the unanimity of Tennessee's belief in this matter.

Some of the explanations of votes follow:

SENATOR W. P. MONROE, Maynardsville: "Modernism, as represented by evolution, denies the Scriptural scheme of creation. If it could be established that one part of the Bible is a myth or fake it would naturally follow that the word as a whole is foundationless. I recognize in evolution an effort to destroy the Bible

Coolidge's Pastor Praises Placing Evolution on Trial

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—When John Thomas Scopes, young Tennessee college professor, goes on trial on charges of teaching the theory of evolution, the country will be done "great good," Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church of Washington, D. C., and spiritual adviser to President Coolidge, told International News Service in a statement today.

Dr. Pierce, who came to Los Angeles to dedicate a church, declared that William Jennings Bryan had "utterly misrepresented" the attitude of many religious thinkers, and that Scopes' trial would be welcomed by many members of the clergy as a means of wiping out misrepresentations made by Bryan and others.

Asserting that he believed the theory of evolution as the "best hypothesis of how God works," Dr. Pierce said scientific truth and religious truth were consistent with each other and "never incompatible," and centering of national interest in the Scopes trial is certain, he said, to reveal much that will result in benefit to the entire country.

Dr. Pierce is the guest here of Dr. Frank Dyer, in whose Congregational church here, where there is a "scroll of honor," carrying the name of Darwin with Shakespeare, Mary, the mother of Jesus; Pasteur, Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson, and Bradford and Brewster, the Pilgrims.

The Washington minister's statement was as follows:

"The Tennessee evolution trial may work a hardship locally and to those immediately involved in court procedure, but it will result in great good nationally. It will focus attention on the fact that all truth is one, that scientific truth and religious truth are always consistent with each other and are never incompatible, and

ASKS DRASTIC CHANGES IN BANK ACT

Vice-President Of Federal Reserve Board Declares For Branch System

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The first gun of a congressional fight to modify statutory limitations against branch banking, was fired today when Edmund Platt, vice-governor of the Federal Reserve board, came out flatly for drastic changes in the national banking act.

Platt, addressing bankers, affiliated with the Robert Morris Associates, gave branch banking as a cure for the unhealthy condition of the American financial system, which was reflected in 295 bank failures between January 1 and May 29.

"The national banking system would be much stronger if we could provide in the future that no banks should be chartered with a capital of less than $50,000 or better $100,000," Platt said. "When smaller banks are necessary to accommodate the people, branches should be permitted."

Better Protection, Claim

Platt holds that larger banks will serve as a better protection to financial interests, large and small, pointing out that a majority of failures were the smaller institutions.

"More than 2,000 banks have failed in the United States since 1920," Platt continued.

"Last year there were 753 failures, although a year of plentiful credit and business recovery. Failures of banks are continuing this year at the rate of eight or ten a week. The situation is highly disgraceful to us as a commercial nation."

Platt said that various palliatives had been adopted, including

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED BY RECEPTION

Demonstration at Twin Cities Causes Coolidge Belief Country Satisfied

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service.

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL, EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON AT CHICAGO, June 9.—President Coolidge saw in the tremendous reception he received Monday in the Twin Cities of Minnesota a great demonstration of patriotism and an indication of general satisfaction through the country with existing conditions. The ever-present presidential spokesman, commenting on Mr. Coolidge's impressions of his northwestern invasion, declared today aboard the train that is carrying him back to Washington, that the president regarded the turnout of the vast throngs in St. Paul and Minneapolis as a striking display of the whole-hearted allegiance and loyalty of the people of the northwest to the institutions of the American government.

Pleased by Ovation

The ovation accorded the executive by approximately 250,000 people pleased him beyond measure. Only once before—in Boston in 1917, when General Joffre passed through miles of cheering thousands—did the president ever witness a like demonstration. In his opinion, no president before addressed a single audience of the magnitude of that which filled the race track of the state fair grounds yesterday where he spoke to 60,000 citizens of Norwegian descent celebrating their centennial.

Despite the difficulties attending delivery of the speech—a howling wind and intermittent

NEW HIGHWAY LINK IS AID TO VALLEY

Proposed Road Will Relieve Traffic Congestion And Help Development

Construction work on a new highway link two and one-half miles long, which will join Sherman Way with Beverly Glen road and serve the San Fernando valley, will start within a few days, according to announcement made today by highway officials. Completion of the road will be of supreme importance to the future growth and development of the San Fernando valley, Leo Lesperance, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Fernando valley, declared.

Mr. Lesperance pointed out that Cahuenga pass in recent months has carried an average daily load of 42,000 vehicles. The new road, he said, will take care of 15,000 vehicles daily, save central valley residents five miles between their homes and the beaches or the southwest part of Los Angeles, and save a great deal of time for motorists. It will reduce traffic congestion on all valley roads, he said.

PROPOSE NEW PLAYGROUND NEAR CITY

Tract Near River Entrance Of Griffith Park To Cover 22 Acres

A playground covering twenty-two acres, and lying a short distance from Glendale, is the plan of the Playground commission and the Allied Architects' association of Los Angeles. The playground will be the largest and most completely equipped children's park in Los Angeles, it is declared, and will be located between Los Angeles river, Los Feliz boulevard and Riverside drive, opposite the river entrance to Griffith park.

Two large swimming pools, one for boys and one for girls, together with large bath houses are included in the plans. Other features will be a children's playground, with a wading pool, slides and other features, several baseball diamonds, tennis courts and outdoor handball courts. Later a modern clubhouse will be erected on the tract. The area will be known as the Griffith Park playground.

LEGION NOTES

Members of Verdugo Hills post No. 288, American Legion, and their friends will gather at the new post headquarters Sunday to put the roof on the building post members have been building in their spare time. The exterior work is complete with the exception of the roof, according to Commander A. E. Baron. Workers who contribute their time Sunday will be supplied with a "come-and-get-it" army type of dinner, the commander said.

It is planned to hold the first meeting in the new clubhouse on the night of June 17, when the post's wrecking crew will tackle a large class of candidates in the basement of the building, known as the "dugout." The post will sponsor a dance at the Sparr Heights Community house on June 20, it is announced.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, June 9.—Ezra Christiansen has been elected delegate of the Burbank Kiwanis club to the international convention to be held at St. Paul late this month.

Pauline Bossuet has been elected president of the Girls' league of the Burbank high school, with Victoria Ackerley vice-president. Frances Riley is secretary and Dorothea Beveridge treasurer. Installation of officers will be Thursday at 10:30 o'clock.

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, June 9.—Only about thirty of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co. stockholders were present last evening to hear William Davidson of the Los Angeles county mechanical department at a meeting held in Verdugo City auditorium to discuss forming a county water district. Mr. Davidson answered the questions put to him by members of the board of directors of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co. who were present as a body, the chief speaker being Mr. Scully.

In regard to the county appraisal of the property prior to purchase, Mr. Davidson stated he felt that only the wells and pumping plants would be acceptable to the county though he had not, of course, made a survey of the district to be taken in. Only standard pipe would be accepted as any other was worthless to the county. Mr. Scully stated that the water company was putting in nothing less than four-inch standard from now on. Mr. Davidson said; "That is the smallest pipe allowed in any main of a county district, so in your case that would be called a minus pipe."

In order to form a district Mr. Davidson said a petition with the signatures of fifty bona fide voters is necessary, this to be presented to the board of supervisors. Thirty days later a hearing will be called and, if not contested, notices for an election on bond issues will be posted. Then still thirty days later the election will be called, making in all ninety days from the beginning of the petition till a vote is taken.

As to the monthly upkeep should a county district be formed Mr. Davidson stated that Lancaster only pays their man $45 per month as it takes but two days for him to read the meters. When asked how the man made a living wage it was explained he had the contract for laying new pipe and makes up the balance at his trade of plumber.

A bond issue sufficient to cover present area was asserted to be the main step at present as subsequent area can be taken care of by a special tax levy. He declared taxes would not be increased as time went on because of forming the district.

Mr. Scully asked how the present stockholders would proceed in regard to initial steps and was answered that a bond of sufficient size must accompany the petition as there are 1200 acres to be covered. Mr. Davidson felt a bond of $1000 would cover the case. Then the county surveyors would be sent out for estimates of the field and the valuation of the present stock.

Mr. Scully speaking for the stockholders felt that, in view of the fact they had put in considerable money to finance the system, the valuation should be a fair one for existing property as they had built up and improved property for the person whose land had not been covered and yet who had benefited by the improvements made by the man carrying the burden of paying for the growing water company, Mr. Davidson replied, "That may all be true, but even the Railroad commission would not accept your own valuation, as the good-will is worth nothing to the county." While Mr. Davidson said the Railroad commission has no jurisdiction over the proceedings of the county it held supervision over the present company as being a mutual company made no difference.

Though the meeting was called by Harry N. Fowler, president of the Verdugo City Association of Commerce, for the purpose of having them receive information at first hand, so few were present that no steps will be taken in regard to a petition till the people have had another opportunity to hear Mr. Davidson at a meeting to be held in two weeks in the Verdugo City auditorium.

The Bunch, an organization of about fifteen couples from the Oakmont Country club, will hold this week's meeting and a pot-luck supper at the Fowler home where Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Fowler will be hosts. The dinner will be served under the trees of the Fowler gardens, after which the guests will adjourn to the Verdugo City auditorium where they will enjoy dancing to the music of Floyd's Sciot orchestra. Mrs. Belle Wernette and Mrs. Val Hollister are chairwomen in charge of arrangements.

Arthur Sitch, horticultural expert, is raising some extra fine gladioli. He has specialized in the Haley and Prince of Wales blooms, his stalks carrying blossoms measuring five inches across the tips. Mr. Stich was employed by the Canadian government before coming here as experimentalist and holds the distinction of being the first man to raise apples north of the Michigan line.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

MARYSVILLE, June 9.—Declaring that he has amassed a fortune and wishes to pay all the bills which he incurred during a period of ill fortune several years ago, Milton Martin of Las Cruces, N. M., has written Mayor Henry Blue for a statement showing how much he is indebted to the city of Marysville.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, June 9.—The Tujunga Realty board has been taking an active part in upholding the Torrens registry system, and at a special meeting of the board a report was read prepared by a committee consisting of Earl Newmire, M. V. Hartranft, A. D. Kirschman, P. J. Blake and Leo H. Smith, in which was shown the defects of the title certificate and title insurance systems, and the strong points of the Torrens title act as now existing. Copies of the report are to be sent to all realty boards of the state, in order to forestall any attack against the Torrens title act which may arise at the next Legislature.

A new map of Tujunga, showing all new subdivisions with sizes of lots, and width of streets, has been got out by the California Home Extension Co., and a tracing of this map has been presented to the realty board by M. V. Hartranft. This makes it possible for each member of the board to have a copy at a nominal cost.

Arrangements are in progress for the subdivision of what is known as the Frank Begue ranch in Haines canyon. This consists of eighty acres, which was sold for a camping place for Boy Scouts, but, as it developed that the Boy Scouts preferred to camp in different places, rather than in the same location year after year, it was again sold, this time for subdivision. R. K. Kent has charge of the work and states that it will be divided into acre and half-acre lots, that substantial homes will be constructed to sell with the land, which will be supplied with sanitary plumbing, including septic tank, thus providing against pollution of the water supply.

The work of excavating for the fire engine house is progressing, and will soon be ready for the work of construction.

Dr. W. Frederic Keeler, was one of the speakers at the May festival of metaphysicians in the Philharmonic auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Goldsborough of Los Robles street are journeying by auto to Providence, R. I., where they will visit their daughter. They are planning to spend the summer in the east.

George Aiken and Mrs. John R. James have been entertaining their brother, James Aiken, and wife, who recently arrived in California from Pittsburgh, Pa.

A school debate held at La Canada between the pupils of La Canada and Tujunga schools, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association, was won by the Tujunga team. Subject was: "Resolved, That the Philippines Should be Given Their Independence." Tujunga argued the affirmative. The Tujunga team consisted of Henry Perry, Wallace Schoch, Constance Grant; La Canada team, Park Wild, Frank Caldron, Roma Seawright.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wright of Sunset boulevard are entertaining their son, W. B. Wright, and family, who have recently arrived from Dowell, Ia., and who expect to locate in California. A reunion of twenty members of the Wright family was held in San Jacinto last week-end.

Mrs. Lulu Duke and Mrs. Jepson, who were guests of honor at a party recently given by the Women's Bible class of the Community church, have since left for the summer. Mrs. Duke will visit in Northern California and Mrs. Jepson in Nevada.

Mrs. N. W. Halferty of North Stevens way is entertaining her grandson, Edward Bingaman, from Anderson, Ind.

A business meeting and farewell party in honor of Miss Lotta Hicks was held by the J. O. C. class of the Community church, at the home of Mrs. Ruth Anderson, on West Fairview avenue. Miss Hicks and Miss Jenny have since left for the east, and will be greatly missed by the J. O. C. class, of which they were active members.

Following the closing down of coal mines in parts of Scotland public aid has been sent to the impoverished families of miners.

CLUB CLOSES SEASON BY LUNCHEON

Fifty Madrigal Members and Guests Enjoy Pleasant Affair In Canyon

Never has a more delightful affair closed Madrigal club seasonal activities, than yesterday when over fifty members and guests lunched at the Sunset Canyon Country club and later enjoyed an informal meeting and program in the attractive lounge of the clubhouse. Leaving the heat of an early summer day, the club company motored to the canyon clubhouse, which was pleasantly cool and provided a most artistic setting for the final gathering before the summer recess. There was only one regrettable feature of the affair and that was the absence of Mrs. Charles A. Parker, founder and director of the club, who is ill at her home on North Orange street.

Mrs. Charles Cressey and her committee had arranged the luncheon tables most beautifully. Streamers of golden crepe paper and fern ran the length of the tables, while bouquets of golden coreopsis, golden candles and clever placecards and favors were added features. Each placecard bore a butterfly sketch, and a jingle written in appreciation of the member or guest whose place it marked. The favors were quaint little figures dressed in pastel colors and holding song books. Before the place of the president, Mrs. Paul A. Hoffman, were a group of these little singing figures, with a leader commanding them with uplifted baton.

Two Guests Presented

After luncheon the women gathered in the lounge, where Mrs. Hoffman presided as mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, president of the Glendale Choral club, were special guests, and both were presented by Mrs. Hoffman. Mrs. Montgomery, who has won many successes in dramatic work, gave two readings, a dramatic sketch of Russian imperialistic life, "Pauline Pavlovna," and "The Mocking Bird." Mrs. Mitchell spoke of the development of musical activities in Glendale and of the opportunities offered for musical expression. She complimented the Madrigal club on its leadership and direction

MAKE LONG STAY EAST AND SOUTH

Glendale Couple Travel Many Miles; Enjoy Numerous Pleasing Experiences

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. James of 1558 East Wilson avenue, are home from a six weeks' trip east, covering over 10,500 miles. From Glendale they went by rail to Texas, where they spent several days in Dallas. They reached Texas just as the heat wave broke and therefore had a pleasant stay. Both Mr. and Mrs. James were heard from the broadcasting station of a Dallas newspaper.

Going on to New Orleans, they enjoyed more of the southern life, visiting friends and seeing places of historic interest. They made the trip from New Orleans to New York by boat. It was a pleasant five day trip, ending with the thrilling experience of having their boat driven onto a mud bank, where they were stuck for four hours.

New Recording Device

In New York Mr. James made another Lincoln phonograph record. He reports some wonderful new recording machinery, which proved very successful. While in New York they visited Mrs. James' aunt.

They also visited Mrs. James' old home in Wilkesbarre, Pa. From there they came west of Chicago, arriving just at the beginning of the heat wave. In Chicago Mr. James was in conference with his company, the Brunswick organization, formulating his fall itinerary, which will probably take him into the eastern states.

Occidental Students To Dedicate Theatre

Dedication of the new Greek theatre at Occidental college will take place Thursday night, with the presentation of "Ephigenia in Aulis" by Euripides, under the direction of Gilmor Brown. A chorus of fifteen women in Greek costumes will sing, under the direction of Madame de Ment Packard.

EMERSON PUPILS SEEN IN RECITAL

Close Of Spring School Term Is Marked By Program Heard By Many

A capacity audience attended the program given by the Emerson School of Self Expression at the Broadway school. This marked the close of the spring term and showed the splendid work accomplished by the students during that time.

All departments of the school took part, the seniors occupying the first part of the program. The numbers consisted of a very clever sketch, some poems and monologues. A special feature was a solo dance, Dvorak's "Indian Lament," interpreted by Mrs. Dorothy Strode, a member of the faculty. The final number was a pantomime, "A Wedding Procession in the Topsy-Turvy land of Jazzmania," a take-off on a wedding ceremony. This was given by members of the public speaking class and produced shrieks of laughter from the audience.

Hear Piano Students

The piano students shared second place on the program. They gave their numbers, consisting of piano solos and duets, in a manner which reflected credit to themselves and the department.

Following this the sub-juniors gave the playlet, "The Days of Long Ago," which elicited much applause from everyone and showed the excellent coaching they had received.

The final number was given by the junior department. A one-act play entitled, "Si Slocum's Store" was presented in a most excellent manner.

Specialties consisting of vocal and cornet solos, duets, dances were introduced and during the final song marshmallows were thrown out into the audience.

Glendale Couple Plan Extensive Motor Trip

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, 246 North Orange street, are to leave tomorrow for a motor trip of three months. Their destination will be Yellowstone park and en route they will visit various points of interest. They will make the trip up the coast and to Yellowstone, and return through Zion canyon in northern Arizona and southern Utah. During their travels they expect to greet many friends living in the western states. Mr. Hutchinson, who has been a student of natural science for many years, anticipates finding much of interest on the trip.

PRESENTS ANALYSIS OF SCHOOL PROGRAM

Dr. T. R. Croswell, at Meeting of Glendale Municipal League, Makes Suggestions Relative to Educational System

Dr. T. R. Croswell of Glendale made what he termed "an analysis of the Glendale school program" at the meeting of the Glendale Municipal league, in session at the Wilson Intermediate school, last night and, at the request of officers of the league, The Glendale Evening News gives Dr. Croswell's address in full, as follows:

"I want to preface my remarks by saying that my sympathies are whole-heartedly with the schools and all those in authority in school administration in all its phases, and this sympathy has been intensified recently while investigating the bond question for the Glendale Municipal league. I have been accorded the most courteous treatment by Supt. Richardson D. White, who is a very earnest and sincere worker for his department of the public service. In co-operation with a Board of Education equally sincere he has worked out a program for the schools which they feel is absolutely essential to the welfare of Glendale.

"It would give me the greatest possible pleasure if I could wholeheartedly endorse this program, and get out and work for it. However, a consideration of the reasons for and against, makes it seem that I may do more for the schools of Glendale by stating briefly an analysis of this program. Any criticisms which I make will not be personal or even local in application. My objections are based on general principles, and might just as well apply to almost any other city in California or in America. There are two outstanding reasons on which one might support this program:

"1 Because of the moral support and sympathy which one wants to give worthy public officials.

"2 Because this program will not be intelligently decided on the 16th of June; and therefore whatever the decision, it will mean little. For if it carries, it will be carried by an emotional appeal to defend the schools against their so-called enemies. If the program is defeated it will be defeated largely by an emotional appeal to the pocket books of the taxpayers. On neither side will there be much intelligent appreciation of the whole question involved.

"Fortunately, however, whether the bonds carry, or whether they do not carry, the education of the children of Glendale will not be vitally, or even materially affected. The actual education given will be practically the same in either case. The surroundings under which this education will be received, may be a little more agreeable, or less agreeable; that is all. Perhaps, too, the false pride of some of the patrons may be fed up, or hurt, if they count outward show more than the rational development of the children. Glendale will gain but little whichever way these bonds go, unless the citizens of Glendale study the question more deeply than they are doing.

National Problem

"On the other hand here is an opportunity for Glendale to take a lead in solving some of the problems that this issue raises. Problems that are national in their scope. They are in the air. Before long some city will be pointing the way. What is the name of that city? Then the other cities will gradually join the procession.

"Let the well wishers for Glendale forget the slogan of 'supporting the schools,' which in this instance, as usual, acts as a screen to conceal the real question to be decided, namely: Do the objects sought by this election justify this bond issue, and the many, many others which must follow if this policy is continued?

"This program has four distinct objects.

"1 Acquiring of ample school grounds—a purpose highly to be commended.

"2 The purchase of school sites before actually needed. This is advanced as a business proposition, and depends on the conditions in the individual case.

"3 The erection of a costly type of building, when no one can foresee what kind of buildings will be needed a few years hence. I believe this policy may be seriously questioned.

"4 Long time bonds—a method of carrying out the program—that is positively vicious.

At the last meeting of the league, Mr. Goss very clearly called attention to the seriousness of forty year bond issues. It is so easy to vote bonds for something you can't afford to pay for. It is a nice way of supporting the schools, and at the same time passing the buck. Somebody must pay those bonds. When you vote these bonds, you are putting a debt on the school children of Glendale, that they will have to carry until they are between 50 and 60 years old.

"The voters of Glendale haven't any right to place this burden on the children unless the improvements demanded justify this expenditure, and are absolutely necessary.

Long Time Ahead

"These bonds to build these schools will not be paid until forty years have elapsed. Who knows that the character of the buildings contemplated will adequately meet the needs of the pupils even twenty years from now. There have been radical changes in education during the past few decades, and indications are that there will be even greater and more rapid changes in the years to come. When these buildings are half paid for, will we throw them away, or go on using out of date buildings for twenty years more?

"The greatest objection to such a far-reaching program is the lack of understanding on the part of the public. It receives only emotional appeals to support a particular election, when it should be given the results of a thorough investigation of the merits of the questions submitted. Thus the Committee of Fifteen spent one day and saw that the schools are over-crowded, that temporary buildings are in use, that half-day sessions are all too frequent. Then swept away by one small phase of the question, and overlooking other things much more vital, they are advocating the voting of $1,237,000 for the children to pay.

Suggests Inquiry

"It certainly would be better for these children if instead of this emotional and partisan campaign for this particular bond issue, such a committee would get back of the superintendent and Board of Education and help them solve some of their heavy problems. They might investigate for example: How courses of study come into being. Why certain subjects happen to be taught today? What subjects are likely to take their place tomorrow? Why certain types of buildings are in use? Whether other types are used? Where and why? What is a reasonable cost for the type of building used here? Why grounds of a certain size are considered essential? Then with such facts—which can't be gathered in a few days—the committee could relieve the overburdened school officials from the necessity of appealing to the voters for financial support. That is not what you pay your superintendent for. He should not have to worry and waste his time over the details these campaigns entail. The committee could then go out, whenever there is a bond election on, with a real campaign of education, and show the voter why each item asked is essential. If they can't show its necessity, then be content to wait until the public is educated up and demands it.

Protect Schools

"Above all such a committee should protect the schools and the school officials from the intimidation and exploitation of these designing individuals who have a relative or friend that would like a position in the schools, or have a sub-division that they think might be benefited by a fine school building in its vicinity.

"Such a committee, working for the schools and with the superintendent, can make better schools, greatly reduce the expense of the present system in Glendale and increase the efficiency of the superintendent 100 per cent. It can also help in the nation-wide campaign for better schools and less waste in them."

Mrs. Cleghorn Gives Delightful Program

The Emerson School of Self-Expression reflected much credit upon itself last night, when it presented Mrs. C. E. Cleghorn, one of the most talented professional students of the school, in recital. The studio was decorated with huge baskets of gladioli and canterbury bells while potted plants were placed about the room, giving it a most attractive appearance.

Mrs. Cleghorn wore a gown of flowered apricot chiffon which set off her gracious personality to advantage. For her program she chose "Lady Windermere's Fan" a drama in four acts by Oscar Wilde.

Much versatility is necessary to interpret a play of this character, and Mrs. Cleghorn demonstrated her powers in this to an extent which not only proved her ability but delighted her hearers as well.

Fire Destroys Office Of Montrose Realtors

Fire starting from defective wiring late last night destroyed the one-story frame building at Waltonia drive and Montrose avenue, Montrose, that was occupied by the Taylor Realty Co. Loss is estimated at $750.

Volunteer fire fighters led by the county fire truck company stationed at Verdugo City, north of Sparr Heights, were unable to control the blaze until it had gutted the structure and destroyed the contents.

Hundreds of spectators were drenched when a heavy stream of water was turned into an unmanned hose.

SINGAPORE IS VISITED BY TRAVELER

Glendalian Describes Sights Of Straits Settlements On World Tour

Lon J. Haddock, prominent realtor, who is now touring the world, has written another article for The Glendale Evening News. This time Mr. Haddock tells about the incidents which mark the journey through the Arabian sea. Other articles by Mr. Haddock will follow shortly.

By LON J. HADDOCK
Written for The Evening News

Across the China sea and into the Straits of Malacca we glide, and four days' run from Manila brings us to Singapore, in the Straits Settlements. Singapore is hot! hotter!! hottest!!! It is barely three degrees from the equator, and its heat knows no equation.

All the men on the ship are in white. Anticipating the tropic heat you get your duck, drill, or pongee suits made to order in Shanghai, or Hongkong, or if you have neglected it up to now you can get them made in one day by any of the Chinese tailor shops in Singapore. The Chinese are great imitators and they will copy a suit or dress, left with them as a pattern, in every detail of style and measurement.

One other minor detail: Practically all of the passengers are now sleeping at night, on improvised cots out on the deck, in a vain attempt to get respite from the intense heat.

Under British Rule

Singapore is the farthermost southern point of Asia. It is under British rule and here it is that Great Britain is figuring on establishing her great Asiatic naval base. The Malays, of course, are the natives, but the present population is overwhelmingly Chinese. In fact, the Chinese make up fully one-fourth of the entire population.

The first distinctive thing we note is in the stevedores who load and unload cargo from the ship. Heretofore the Chinese coolies with their everlasting "sing-song" have been the menials, but now a new type of humanity comes into evidence. These are the Hindoo Tamils. Tall, dark, lithe fellows they are, with flashing dark eyes and pearly teeth, and shiny black bodies. Some of them have really remarkably fine features and yet in intelligence and strength they are greatly inferior to the Chinese.

Representative members of our own consulates tell me that the Tamils are almost entirely devoid of intelligence. They are just human automatons having to be driven to every task they perform. Clad in Nature to the waist the balance of their attire consists of a loose-fitting "serang" made up of one piece of cloth which is held in place by deftly rolling it under just above the hips, and this hangs at varying levels, according to the whim of the in-

Daily Greeting to News Readers

NOTHING CAN BE WORSE—
Than living daily with the memory of a friend betrayed.
Than trying to buy happiness with money gained by dishonor.
Than to see a child beloved turn ingrate.
Than to live in a neighborhood and be held in contempt.
Than to be compelled to choose between two loyalties.
Than to be an unwilling witness of a family quarrel.
Than to try to make excuses substitute for honest reasons.

THE TENNESSEE CASE

It is not the high school teacher or Darwin's theory of evolution that is on trial in Tennessee. Evolution is not to be proved or disproved, although a newspaper paragrapher facetiously writes that with Clarence Darrow defending evolution the theory will never hang but may get ten to twenty years in prison. The question involved is the constitutionality of the Tennessee law prohibiting the teaching of evolution in the public schools and it is attracting the attention of the entire country because the principle at stake concerns every state in the union, every public school and every family. Furthermore there are fifteen states that are considering some phase of this same question.

At first thought, the Tennessee controversy seems like a childish quarrel but there is a good deal to be said on both sides and the question is sufficiently important to engage the best minds of the country.

There is a grave danger that the state will take too much authority upon itself, that legislatures will assume autocratic powers and that the great principle of freedom of thought and freedom of speech will be subverted. To some the anti-evolution law smacks too strongly of the union of church and state. It seems like unwarranted intrusion and intolerance.

On the other hand there is nothing so important as the matter of the public school curriculum. Not only the welfare of the individual child but the future of the republic depends upon it. It is a question that has had all too little attention in proportion to its importance.

There are those who see in the theory of evolution a direct attack upon the realities of religion, and since state legislatures have the right to prohibit the teaching of the Bible in the public schools they should also be given the privilege of prohibiting those things which in the eyes of the people contradict the teachings of the Bible. Furthermore, it is contended that the people of a state have a right to say how their money shall be spent for education, and so long as private schools and individuals may teach what they please, the privilege of free speech is not denied and the state is within its rights.

The issue is really of tremendous importance. Mr. Bryan, stating his position in the controversy, claims that the taxpayer has the right to say what shall be taught. "It is a matter for the nation," he says, "one of the greatest questions ever raised—the question of the rights of the people, who created and support the schools, to control them." It is the taxpayers against a few scientists, although it must be admitted that there is not an inconsiderable number of the taxpayers on the side of the scientists. Mr. Bryan says there are 11,000 members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science on one side and 109,000,000 Americans on the other, and adds, "For the first time in my life I am on the side of the majority."

NO DANGER OF REVOLUTION

In spite of the Communist outrages in Bulgaria and their activities in China and other countries, a well-known editorial writer declares that the world over-estimates the danger from the Bolshevist and that the menace of the revolution is no menace. Colliers' weekly says agitators fail in their political reform movement in this country because too many workmen go to work in flivvers and too many farmers spend their winters in California. It is because workers and farmers know that flivvers and Florida are waiting for those who go after them with industry and intelligence that Bolshevism gets nowhere in the United States. And, conversely, the way to nullify the work of agitators is not with raids and jails but by keeping open this equal chance to all.

The people of this country do queer things at times but we are innately conservative, also we know on which side our bread is buttered. We have seen and heard too much of communism and revolutions ever to look kindly upon them.

ASK AID OF PEOPLE

The authorities are asking the aid and co-operation of private garage owners in searching for stolen automobiles. Car thieves are now finding it the safest practice to store stolen machines in rented private garages for a period of one, two or three months before driving them to other parts of the country for disposal. By that time the robbery has been partially forgotten and it is frequently an easy matter for the thief to drive the car elsewhere and dispose of it, for it is generally changed in appearance with new license plates, altered engine numbers and forged owner's certificates. Counterfeit license plates are being printed and distributed to the thieves who are often members of a well-organized gang and forged bills of sale, sales contracts, and other certificates are used by practically all the professional thieves.

It is easy to see that those who have garages for rent may render the authorities valuable service in rounding up and capturing rings of automobile thieves.

THE CONSTITUTION

A speaker recently made the statement that George Washington and the fathers who drafted the constitution built it for all time and that it will be found to cover all the needs of today. The last thing the founders of the constitution intended was to draft a law that would serve for all time. They knew that such a feat was impossible, just as lawmakers today know they cannot make laws that will be applicable to the needs of the people in 2075. So the framers of the constitution left a loophole, providing that amendments might be added as the need arose. At that, they builded better than they knew, for they were not satisfied with their work. They thought of it as temporary and yet it has turned out to be the most lasting fundamental law in the world. Would that those men could hear the young people today orating upon the merits of the law they framed.

France and Germany have just signed a potash agreement which again proves that European enemies can always get together when there is a chance to trim somebody else.

ON THE BEACH AT WAIKIKI!

Expenses Of Funerals

By DR. FRANK CRANE

When Mrs. Lydia Harding Hammond died last January, she stated in her will that she did not want her children to spend money foolishly on funeral display. They were to bury her cheaply, to wear no mourning, and to think of her as living happily in heaven and not dead. She added:

Don't keep anything just because it is mine. They are just things, and worn and shabby at that. Love does not need such things for remembrance."

It is the custom in some circles almost to impoverish the remaining family under the feeling that they are doing honor to those that are dead.

While it is just to pay the dead all respect it is a question whether the dead would wish so much respect shown that the living would be impoverished.

With funerals, as with everything else, the simpler the better.

Surely death is no time for vulgar display or for show. The dead certainly do not want it and it is of questionable advantage to the living.

The funeral which is conducted with simplicity and severe plainness will have dignity and impress people more than one on which a lot of money is spent.

The custom of erecting costly monuments carries the distinction of class and property into the graveyard. If democracy should be anywhere it should be in death. There the prince and pauper are equal, and the worms prey alike upon the king and the beggar maid.

The occasion of death should be the last place for display or precedence.

Horoscope

Rarely fortunate should dwellers on earth be today, for all the planetary influences are good, according to astrology. Jupiter, Mercury and Uranus are all in benefic aspect.

It is a day most favorable to enterprise in business, a time for big advertising campaigns and for ambitious development work.

More and more will co-operation rule in many lines of manufacturing and merchandising. There will be monopolies as well as beneficent application of the principle that in union there is strength.

New vocations for this year's graduates will be much discussed at this time when science will open new fields of endeavor, for the radio is only one of many new inventions that are to change modern conditions.

There is a sign read as presaging a period of profit for newspapers and periodicals of all sorts for matters of grave interest will be presented to the people.

While women will do much organized work this month their growing power will not be revealed until later when a matter of grave international moment makes demands on the nation.

Uranus today is in an aspect quickening the perception of public matters and causing great interest in national affairs.

Thinking is to become more of an indoor exercise among the people than it has been and public forums will be popular in certain cities this year, it is foretold.

The Moon today enters Aquarius, an airy masculine sign ruled by Uranus and governing ankles.

All the signs forecast a more general use of airplanes and a surprising development of aviation in the next few months.

Uranus promises the utilization of many new inventions, among them several that will improve motion pictures.

Americans are warned that nervous diseases will multiply and that there will be many sufferers from mental maladies. The simple life should be followed wherever possible this summer.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid legal difficulties in the coming year when there may be many provocations.

Children born on this day probably will be clever and a bit inclined to feel superior, a fact that may cause them many quarrels. These subjects of Gemini are usually really talented and able to win high places in the arts.

Today's Poem

ODE

We are the music-makers,
And we are the dreamers of dreams,
Wandering by lone sea-breakers,
And sitting by desolate streams;
World losers and world forsakers,
On whom the pale moon gleams,
Yet we are the movers and shakers
Of the world for ever, it seems.
With wonderful deathless ditties
We build up the world's great cities,
And out of a fabulous story
We fashion an empire's glory.
One man with a dream, at pleasure,
Shall go forth and conquer a crown;
And three with a new song's measure
Can trample an empire down.
We, in the ages lying
In the buried past of the earth,
Built Nineveh with our sighing,
And Babel itself with our mirth;
And o'erthrew them with prophesying
To the old of the new world's worth,
For each age is a dream that is dying
Or one that is coming to birth.

—Arthur O'Shaughnessy.

10 Years Ago

Apparently ignorant that they were running directly contrary to a strict liquor ordinance of Glendale, the Tropico Transfer Co. undertook to deliver a quantity of beer in Glendale a few days ago. The driver of the wagon made no attempt to conceal the nature of his freight and drove through the heart of the city with his goods in full view. He was fined $50.

Sixty-one graduates will receive diplomas at Glendale Union High school June 17.

STUNNED BY DEER

WEAVERVILLE, Cal., June 9.—A. J. Fetzer, traveling by automobile and sitting in the back seat, was stunned when a deer leaped off a bank and jumped into the seat with him. Fetzer was unconscious for a minute or so, being revived by members of the family. The deer's feet struck him in the forehead. The animal escaped and scampered down hill to join two other deer.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

There is no one bible.
There are many of them.
Each man reads his own bible.

A book does not become a man's "bible" unless it has been the principal quickening influence in his spiritual life and the source of his illumination, so that he returns to it when he needs to reanimate his purposes or confirm his belief.

The sacred book of any racial or historical religion is, of course, more than such a personal bible, by as much as a race is more than an individual or history than a lifetime.

But it is the personal relation, between a man and the book that has become HIS sacred book, that is important.

Thus we say, "each man reads his own bible."

And it is only when a document is somebody's bible in this sense that it is a religious document at all.

The Old and New Testaments, the Koran, Plato's philosophy, the writings of Confucius, Nietzsche's essays, "The Origin of the Species"—all these are bibles to many men.

Let each man have his own bible. This should be the first law of religious tolerance.

Unfortunately there is a large body of citizens intent upon FORCING all men to have only one bible.

They do not stop there, but also attempt to COMPEL all men to see one meaning and one only, in its words, and this meaning they interpret themselves.

In Tennessee some men who believe that there is only one bible, have made it illegal by state law for their neighbors to have any other.

Some Good Gentlemen from other states, agitated because a man has been arrested for violating the law, although he invited arrest, are preparing to go to Tennessee in the name of liberty to defend him and force their bible, and their interpretation upon Tennessee.

So moves the world.

Who's Who

The man who has just introduced his Mellon plan for the reduction of income taxes in the British Parliament and is being criticized just as Mr. Mellon was on the assumption that he was being too kind to taxpayers with large incomes, has made a brilliant recovery from the discredit into which he fell during the war. That man is Winston Churchill. He is now, as chancellor of the exchequer, in the highest political position which he has ever occupied. A few years ago it would have been a more likely prediction that he would be finance minister of Great Britain than that Caillaux would be finance minister of France.

At the outset of the great war Mr. Churchill was at the head of the British admiralty and he was held responsible for two costly failures: the attempt to take Antwerp and the attempt to capture Gallipoli. Both were sound strategy and boldly conceived, as is everything that Mr. Churchill does. Had either movement succeeded the war would have been shortened by half. And the attack on Constantinople would have succeeded if Lord Kitchener, in charge of land operations, had supported Mr. Churchill's naval move upon Gallipoli. But Kitchener and Churchill had hated each other ever since Churchill charged Kitchener with carrying away the Mahdi's head as a personal trophy from the Sudan. And for this reason or for lack of vision Kitchener let Churchill fail at Gallipoli, and Churchill's political career seemed to be at an end.

Churchill was set down as a brilliant and reckless young man, not to be trusted with responsibility. He was the kind of civilian official who would not leave strategy to the professional soldiers, who would risk everything for one master stroke made against the advice of experts, a desk Napoleon. The premiership had seemed at one time likely to round out his career. And once more, in spite of his indiscretion in the war and his indiscretion later under Lloyd George, he appears to be headed for the premiership, if he does not as chancellor of the exchequer again do something which shocks the cautious Britons.

HALT PASADENA LIBRARY

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—In a suit filed here G. B. Servez, a taxpayer, asked an injunction to restrain the city of Pasadena from incurring further obligations in the erection of a proposed library in connection with Pasadena's $3,500,000 civic center. Illegal transfer of city funds was charged in the suit.

Dinner Stories

NOW, ISN'T IT TRUE

The hours were flying by, and still Reggy, the bore, remained with her.

"Do you like music?" she inquired listlessly.

"Yes," he replied. "I am always carried away by music."

She flew to the piano and played several airs. Then she turned and looked at him.

"You are not gone yet?"

"No," he answered.

"But you told me that music always carried you away?"

"Yes," he retorted, "but I said 'music.'"

STELLAR WITNESS

There was only one witness of the accident, an illiterate Slav from the coal mines, who could understand no English. With him the coroner began to struggle.

"Can you speak German?" he asked. The man, puzzled, shook his head.

"Can you speak Italian?" continued the official. Again the man shook his head.

"Can you speak Hungarian?" The same response.

"Can you speak Russian?" finally asked the coroner. Again the man shook his head.

"It's no use gentlemen," said the coroner, turning to the jury. "We can't proceed with the case. I've spoken to this man in five different languages and can't make him understand me."

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

The "small part" man was ill, and a stage hand had been instructed to deliver his lines (or words) "off." His cue came after the anguished hero had cried out: "Alas! What can have happened to the Lady Ermyntrude?"

"Lidy Ermyntrude?" answered the stage hand hoarsely; "wh she's dead."

"No, no; it cannot be; it is impossible;" protested the hero melodramatically.

"Aw right, then," came the indignant and astounding reply; "if yer don't believe me, ask the stige manager."

SYMPATHY WITH STUDENTS GROWS

Chinese Provincial Governors Protest Action Taken In Shanghai

PEKING, June 9.—Sympathy with the demonstrations of Chinese students supporting the general strike in Shanghai has developed into a national movement of growing momentum all over China, it appeared today. More than a hint of China arrayed against the foreign concessionary powers can be seen.

Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang, North China leader, and Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, have joined with other provincial governors in a joint demand that the Peking government protest strongly against the Shanghai developments.

They are incensed by the "ruthless suppression of the Chinese student demonstrations," by the "unwarranted shooting of Chinese" and particularly by the unreasonable attitude of the Shanghai municipal authorities. They take exception also to the part played by the diplomatic corps at Peking and insist that no further insults to the Chinese nation be tolerated. The Chinese Bankers' association has inaugurated a boycott against Japanese notes and paper handled by the British branch banks. All schools in the large cities are closed.

Industrial Concern Is Given Praise Of Army

"The Paraffine Companies, Inc., is the first California industrial concern to assign three of its employes to the army's citizens military training camps this year, and this company, I am proud to say, has always been to the forefront in rendering patriotic service to the government."

This was the tribute paid the Paraffine Companies, Inc., manufacturers of Pabco paints, roofing and floor covering, by Colonel E. V. Smith, chief of staff, Ninety-first division, and in charge of the citizens' camp which opens at Del Monte on July 21 and ends August 19.

The boys assigned to the camp by their company are Ted Barton, twenty-one, merchandise department; Lloyd Greenville, twenty-three, Pabcolin department; and J. L. Fuller, twenty-two, stationery department. The concern will pay the salaries of the lads during the training period.

The assignment of the three youths to the camp was suggested by E. F. Seagrave, assistant to the director of sales of the organization, and first lieutenant, field artillery, U. S. R.

Business men generally, says a recent army communication, realize that young employes sent to the camps will emerge not only better soldiers but better citizens and employes.

EVERY ACT WINS WARM APPLAUSE

Orpheum Program Presents Artists In Many Lines; Some Old Friends

If applause can be a judge of the show, then every act this week at the Orpheum is "bomb-proof." The ovation was split evenly between the four headliners, namely Karyl Norman, Ducie De Kerekjarto, Roberta Arnold and that popular phonograph artist, Marion Harris.

Mr. Norman is certainly clever and his flapper take-off is met with the big noise. He seems to wear more gorgeous gowns each time he appears, and that is always a delight to the eye of woman.

Ducie De Kerekjarto is one violin virtuoso who really plays with his heart and soul. He plays as if it were his last opportunity, giving the best music and sparing no effort. His work ranges from the most difficult classics to our old standard, "Home Sweet Home."

Wins In Wife Role

"Their First Anniversary," starring Roberta Arnold, is certainly true to life and Miss Arnold, who takes the part of the forgotten wife, scores heavily in her realistic impression of the down-trodden wife.

Still making the crowd howl for more, Marion Harris continues singing the "blues" to everyone's satisfaction. Jack Hanley makes the world safe for "hokum" with his trick trousers, hats and juggling. Jane and Katherine Lee are back with their studio act which requires lots of nonsense and finally the shedding of real tears.

Lillian Faulkner knows how to put on a marionette show and deserves a better spot than the "opening." The Burns brothers, who bill themselves as "Society Gymnasts," wind up the "doin's" to the hilarity and satisfaction of everyone.

NEW DIAMOND FOUND

OROVILLE, Cal., June 9.—While diamonds have been found intermittently for a decade in the Cherokee district ten miles north of this city, Fred Wiese, a miner, today brought here a one-carat sparkler, which is one of the largest to be unearthed. It is of such brilliance that it will not requfre much cutting.

Wiese made his find near Sugar Loaf Peak in the middle of a district in which more than 300 diamonds have been found of late years, and from which gold valued at $13,000,000 has been taken since the diggings have been worked. It is claimed that this diamond field is the only one in the continental United States.

OBSERVE SABBATH PLEA OF PASTOR

Desecration Of Holy Day Is Dishonest Act, Says Rev. W. E. Edmonds

At the Glendale Presbyterian church, the subject of "Sabbath Observance as Social Sanity," was discussed by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds on Sunday morning, who took for his text the words foun din Mark 2:27. "The Sabbath was made for Man." He said in part:

"The Sabbath is one of the vital and indispensable institutions of man. Some of the great minds of the race have described it in terms such as the following: 'Heaven's milestone on the highway of time.' 'The golden link in the chain of days.' 'The isle of hope amid the billows of doubt and care.' 'The golden clamp that binds together the volume of the week.' 'The pledge of earth's eternal jubilee.' 'The brightest gem in man's casket of mercies.' 'An oasis in the desert of life.'

"These and others show the esteem in which high souls of the race have held our holy day. Not only is the Sabbath beautiful, but it is of the greatest practical value. They say that we are losing the Sabbath, and one is tempted to believe it. In the memoirs of a great Frenchman on his return to France after a tour of America, he says he was asked which of our great institutions most impressed him. His significant reply was 'The American Sabbath. On that day, business houses close; places of amusement are closed; the fires are banked in the great furnaces; all unnecessary work ceases. It seemed as if all the people were either at home or attending church services.' That was a little over 100 years ago! Things have changed seriously since that time—and not for the better.

Places Blame

"You say 'The world is getting better.' Shall Sabbath observance be an answer to your statement? Who is responsible? Whose day is it? What's the day for? Let us lay 'judgment to the line and righteousness to the plummet.'

"I believe blame must be laid to the door of the professing Christian church. I do not propose to enter into a discussion with outsiders, nor have I time nor inclination to enter into newspaper controversy. I stand here to declare the truth of God with no man or set of men to direct or control. If you are in sympathy with Divine truth as here set forth—in weakness it is true, but the truth is not weak—we welcome you. My controversy is with professing Christians. More than 40,000,000 of professed followers of Jesus Christ live in these United States. The conclusion is inevitable—either vast numbers of these do not want the Christian Sabbath or want a Sabbath which is no Sabbath at all. One thing is certain: no really vital and adequate Christian life is possible without a right observance of the Sabbath.

"It should be said right here, that all time belongs to God. My watch measures God's time. All days are God's, but it hath pleased Him to set apart one day in seven as peculiarly His Own, and He insists upon the right to say how His people shall spend it. Then all honest men will take note of the fact that Sabbath desecration is a dishonest act, because it is a misappropriation of that which belongs to God.

'To Keep It Holy'

"The trouble is that in the early days, the Pharisees made a burden of that which God intended to be a blessing. You must not kindle a fire on the Sabbath, nor bandage a wound; you must not walk on ripened grain nor pluck it. Christ says the Sabbath was made for man, for rest and worship, for deeds of love and mercy—a day spent God-ward. Not what I want to do with the day, but remembering His command 'remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.' A Sabbath breaker is as untrue to himself as he is to the Father who created him.

"The text says 'The Sabbath was made for man.' What kind of a man is meant? Certainly not a mere stomach. The animal can eat and sleep and play. Shall that be the only program of a man made in the image of God, an immortal soul, one eternity-bound? Is the Sabbath a feed-fest or a faith-fest? Is it a hike to the mountains or a walk to the house of God where the soul may sit in Heavenly places with Christ Jesus? What kind of a man? A mere mind, mere mentality? Stuff the mind with the Sunday newspaper and chuck the truths of the living God into the discard? Will you choose the muck of the world and refuse the milk and honey and Heavenly dew of the Word?

"I recognize the place and power of American journalism. But I cannot but wish we might return to the Sunday morning of twenty-five years ago in Philadelphia—when there was not a boy on the streets crying the Sunday paper. Today there are 500,000 boys employed every Sunday morning distributing Sunday papers. What do you choose for your home, Buster Brown in the funnies or the Boy Christ?

'What Kind of Man?'

"'The Sabbath was made for man.' Yes, but for what kind of a man? A mere athlete; for Sunday baseball. Going out with the Godless throng swimming in God's ocean on God's day, when He commands us not to forget the assembling of ourselves together?'

"What kind of a man? A movie-fan, movie-mad, in church in the morning and the theatre in the evening? O, let's be decent in our Christian profession!

"People may laugh at those who defend the old-fashioned Christian Sabbath. But the fact remains that the nation that tramples under foot the Lord's day is going the way to ruin, to moral and spiritual death. When the Sabbath goes, the home goes, and when the home goes, the nation goes down. The Sabbath is solemnly and repeatedly declared to be the sign of the covenant between God and His people. Like the ring that the bridegroom places on the hand of his bride, the seal of their espousals. What shall be said of those who wilfully desecrate it or lightly regard it?

"'The Sabbath was made for man;' for what kind of a man; for God's man, doing always those things which please Him."

Be Sure Your Camp Fire Is Dead—Then Bury It!

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, June 9.—La Crescenta Parent-Teacher Association Reading Circle will meet on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Montague Cleeves, at the head of Briggs avenue. Those not having transportation should be at the Angier home at 10:45 o'clock, when cars will meet them.

Members of the Angeles Forest Protective association will hold their next meeting in the Highway Highland clubrooms. The principal business of the meeting will be to discuss proposed changes in article 42 of their bylaws relative to attendance. The fire-eaters are busy now on the cabin being erected at Grizzly Flats, which is to be a half-way supply and rest house on the fire trail to the peak. When it is not in use for fire purposes the members will use it as a recreation base and general stamping grounds.

The parting of the ways, caused by high school graduation, was the motif for a delightful bridge party given by Miss Marion Kieth of West Altura avenue for a group of her school friends. During the afternoon Marjory Temple gave readings and Miss Leonore Hartline entertained with several piano selections. Frederica Browne carried off first prize, second going to Marjorie Temple. The tea tables were set with bowls of yellow and white daisies, the color scheme being carried out in the cakes and house decorations. Those present were: Lorraine Carver, Lenore Hartline, Mary Belanger, Tid Walke, Sarah Keppel, Helen Moody, Zella Willard, Carolyn Ayars, Janet Culberson, Wilma McCullum, Helen Harding, Frederica Browne, Alice Hill, Helen Herry, Katherine Stanley and Mary Baxter. Miss Kieth was assisted in serving by her aunt, Mrs. H. Jessem of Glendale, who poured, and by Mrs. F. Rollins and Lenore Hartline.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Card of East Altura avenue have as house guests George and Ben Garside of Denver. Messrs. Garside came to Los Angeles as representatives of Jebel shrine of Denver, and have just returned from a trip to San Francisco.

Two brush fires called out the La Crescenta valley fire department yesterday morning, one in Sparr Heights and the other at the extreme west end of Mills avenue. Owing to the quick response to the alarm, Fire Chief Duncan reports, no damage was done.

DOLBERG WINS HONORS IN CONTEST

Local Baritone Gets First Place In Eisteddfod Finals At School

Glenn R. Dolberg, Glendale baritone, won first place in the California Eisteddfod finals in solo singing at the Glendale Intermediate school last night. Mr. Dolberg, representing the Glendale district, competed against singers from five other districts in the state. Second honors in the baritone-bass competitions went to Theodore P. Arbeely, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Gladys Shelton Fischer of Burbank, winner of Glendale district soprano honors, took second place in the soprano finals last night, winning the honor in a field of ten other contestants from many parts of Southern California. Ruth Burdick Williams of Los Angeles won first place in the soprano contests; Maud Mapes Perry of Pasadena took third.

The tenor solo winners were J. Fred Simpson of Los Angeles, first; J. E. Williams of the Bay Cities district, second, and Henry B. Stark, Pasadena, third. The victors in the contralto solos were as follows: Jeanne deCanet Garnier, Los Angeles, first; Sara M. Sloane, Redlands, second, and Mrs. Howard F. Loucks, Pomona, third.

Other Winners

Two vocal duets were given also, first place being won by Mrs. Loucks and Mrs. F. B. Pedley of Pomona. Second place was given to Winifred House and Mary Todd of Ventura county district. A lyric trio, composed of Mrs. Loucks, Mrs. Pedley and Mrs. Colin Schureman of Pomona, gave a special exhibition number of unusual merit.

Judges of the contest were Mrs. Flora Myers Engel, well-known concert soloist; Francis Kendig, music critic, Los Angeles Daily Times, and Dudley Warner Fitch, organist of Episcopal Pro-Cathedral of Los Angeles. Alexander Stewart of the California Eisteddfod association, presided and Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell assisted on the reception committee. Boy Scouts acted as ushers.

Pastor Praises Trial Of Evolution Theory

that we make progress in the entire field of knowledge, which knows no essential distinction between secular and sacred.

May Confuse Some

"Ignorance of facts coupled with misstatements about evolutionists will tend to confuse some people. So good a man as Mr. Bryan, in his sweeping generalizations, utterly misrepresents the attitude of most religious thinkers who believe in evolution and who also believe in the Bible as inspired revelation; who believe in Christ as God's Son, in miracles as manifestations of God's consistent laws and in the prevailing power of prayer.

"Because I believe that God's ways of working are orderly, unceasing and eternal, because I believe that all law is the natural expression of God's life, I believe in the theory of evolution as the best hypothesis of how God works.

"To the best of my knowledge all of the leaders in every church I have served, including my present charge at First Congregational church in Washington, believe in the evolutionary theory."

Asks Drastic Changes In Federal Bank Act

regulations of the Federal Reserve board, but that they had not prevented failures, only made them less excusable.

Sees Greater Stability

Only four national banks with a capacity of $250,000 or more have failed since 1920, according to Platt.

"These figures present strong evidence of the greater stability of the larger banks," he declared.

"The underlying banking system must be sound in order to give the federal reserve system a chance to render adequate service," Platt asserted.

"We must have banks large enough to afford good management and to spread their risks over a variety of industries and a considerable territory.

"The larger banks have a better chance to weather financial storms. They serve a greater variety of industry and often spread their loans so widely that they cannot be affected vitally by disaster in one industry."

FIRE MENACE CAUSED BY WEATHER

Chief Lankford Issues Warning; Urges Prevention Of Grass Blazes

With the advent of warm, dry weather, Glendale has a serious menace in potential grass fires, Fire Chief A. H. Lankford warned today in a statement in which he urged property owners to clear vacant lots and remove rubbish and paper from back yards and garages.

The department made six runs yesterday to grass fires in various parts of the city, and up to noon had extinguished two today. A rubbish fire got out of the control of H. K. Potts, El Rito and Hermosita, today, and spread to a vacant lot where it threatened nearby property before apparatus from station No. 4 was called. Another grass fire at 111 East Dryden was extinguished this morning.

"When persons wish to report fires they should ask directly for the 'fire department' to get immediate action," said Chief Lankford. "Then central is careful to get the number calling, so that if in the excitement the address of the fire is not given it can be reported by the central telephone office.

"This happened today when the fire on East Dryden was reported. The informant failed to give the address, and it had to be checked through central. Often when we ask where the fire is, we get the answer: 'In the kitchen!'

"Clean up the back yards, burn the dead grass and weeds after obtaining a permit from the fire department. Rubbish in the residential sections can be burned without a permit from 7 to 10 o'clock, if the blaze is kept twenty-five feet from building."

Salvation Army Opens Permanent Quarters

A permanent branch of the Salvation Army has been opened in Glendale at 124 West Wilson avenue, and the official opening of the hall will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Captain and Mrs. Malcolm M. Webb, Jr., have been sent here to commence resident operations. Staff Captain Jackson, Adjutant Barry and other officers of the Salvation Army will be present with a band from one of the city corps for the official opening.

An invitation is extended the public to attend the opening ceremony and also to attend the regular meetings which will be held each night in the week with the exception of Monday. Captain and Mrs. Webb arrived here yesterday to begin their new work.

Club Will Discontinue Meetings For Summer

The Glendale Advancement association will discontinue its regular weekly meetings for the duration of the summer months, it was announced today noon by President C. W. Ingledue. Projects now being worked on by the association, including the extension of Glendale avenue to the north and the south, will be handled through the executive officers for the summer months, regular meetings being called only in case of necessity, President Ingledue said.

Legislators Tell Of Voting Evolution Law

and its influence, despite the fact that what we are today we owe to the Bible and the teachings of Christ. It was upon this hypothesis that I favored the bill."

SENATOR S. T. DOTY, Springville: "I voted for the evolution law because the Bible plainly explains how man was created."

SENATOR W. F. GRUBB, Chattanooga: "I voted for the measure because I believe in the origin of man as taught in the Bible and because the state has the absolute right to direct the expenditure of its funds in the education of children."

SENATOR ROY C. WALLACE, Lenoir City: "I voted for the law because I thought it a good one. Every intellectual person believes in evolution in many forms, so long as it does not conflict with the Holy Bible. I notice that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university has stated that enactment of this law showed ignorance. All Tennesseeans would rather be more or less ignorant of some things than be dubbed an educated fool. I suppose he thinks it was a bunch of ignoramuses who led the nation in volunteering in all our wars; I suppose he thinks it was a bunch of ignoramuses who helped break the Hindenburg line.

"The time has come when Tennessee will protect her young from the influence of such educated fools."

SENATOR HERVEY WHITFIELD, Clarksville: "I voted for the bill as a means to prevent teaching that the Bible was not true and also to conform to the will of the majority of my constituents. The bill provides that nothing should be taught that man evolved from a lower animal. I believe as my colleagues did that the Genesis story of creation is true and that Jesus was divine."

SENATOR HUGH T. BENNETT, Fruitland: "I do not believe in the theory of evolution as applied to man. All things are reproduced after their kind. Most people in Tennessee believe the Biblical account of the creation of man. Destroy the faith in God's word and you have destroyed all that is best in civilization. Teachers of evolution should not be permitted to discuss immoral ideas in the guise of science."

SENATOR D. D. HUMPHREYS, Hohenwald: "This law plainly provides it is unlawful to teach in schools supported by the state any theory that contradicts the origin of man as taught in the Bible. We have the right to say what shall not be taught. The act in no may interferes with any religious idea in the state. If man actually came from the monkey, I do not want such an idea taught our children. This is being done by some teachers in Tennessee, and for these reasons I voted for the bill."

Four of the six senators who voted against the bill explained their reasons as follows:

SENATOR C. B. KING, Brownsville: "I voted against the bill because I thought it was stupid to try and control thought by law. The theory of evolution does not discredit the Bible. Any attempt to impede search for truth is an assault on all education and therefore intolerable."

SENATOR JOHN H. TRICE, Jackson: "I voted against the bill because I believed its enactment into law unnecessary, would defeat the object sought and would inflame the spirit of bigotry and demagogism."

SENATOR CECIL SIMS, Nashville: "I voted against the bill because I believe in the freedom of the principle of the separation of church and state. This bill was but the first step, as evidenced by a companion bill, to prohibit Jews from teaching in the public schools. This was defeated. I do not approve of legislative effort, direct or indirect, concerning the truth or error of either evolution or Genesis. Other Christian religions have survived centuries without legislative assistance and need none now. Believing the Biblical injunction 'Know the truth and truth shall make you free' and the Jeffersonian principle of freedom of thought so long as truth is left free to combat error, I opposed the bill."

SENATOR FRANK D. FULLER, Memphis: "I opposed the bill because I saw no need of conflict between science and the Bible. The passage of such laws is an insult to intelligence and as a rule utterly fail to accomplish the purpose desired. I predicted if the bill became a law its effect would be to stimulate rather than retard the study and teachings of evolution, and that people who had never given the subject a moment's thought would become ardent evolutionists and attempt to propound theories of which they had not the slightest intelligent conception. If one desired to broadcast evolution to the four corners of the earth, the passage of this bill would be an active means to this end."

Vivid Drama

"Raffles," closing tonight at Glendale Theatre, is rapid mystery melodrama of most unusual type.

A rapid mystery melodrama of stirring situations is "Raffles," the Universal photoplay that will be seen for the last times tonight at the Glendale Theatre.

House Peters in the title role plays the amateur cracksman with great skill and histrionic ability. He gives a reserved, careful delineation of the most entertaining of fiction sleuths. Although the "Raffles" stories were written more than thirty years ago by Ernest W. Hornung and Eugene Presbrey, they have continued to be popular with readers of all ages. Drama is real in this King Baggot production.

The almost impossible theft of a famous string of pearls from the neck of a fashionable woman aboard an ocean liner between Calcutta and Liverpool forms the groundwork of the story. From the brilliant ballroom of the steamer the story shifts to London and to a large estate just outside the British metropolis.

An impassioned love story is skilfully twined into the mysterious element of "Raffles" and the heroine of the affaire d'amour is the lovely Miss Dupont. Others in the supporting cast include Hedda Hopper, Frederick Esmelton, Walter Long, Winter Hall, Kate Lester, Freeman Wood and Lillian Langdon.

MEETING BALLOTS ON SCHOOL BOND ISSUES

Gathering Takes Straw Vote on Several Propositions; Committee to Conduct Inquiry of Municipal Matters

With the city school bond election only a week away, representatives of the Glendale Municipal league and members of the Board of Education met at the Wilson Intermediate school last night for a further discussion of the school bond issue. A small group of spectators attended the meeting.

When Judge Harry G. Chase, a member of the school board, questioned the authority of the meeting to act in the name of the Glendale Municipal league when there was not a quorum of the league's membership present, it was voted to function as a mass meeting of citizens with H. V. Adams presiding. Less than twenty persons were in attendance, Judge Chase pointed out, whereas, with its present membership of seventy-five, at least twenty-five members were necessary to make up a quorum. Judge Chase was supported by E. W. Gilliland.

A report by Dr. T. R. Croswell, a member of the schools and libraries committee of the league, read by him at the outset of last night's meeting, will be found elsewhere in this edition of The Glendale Evening News.

A straw vote on articles included in the two proposed school bond issues, segregated according to the suggestion of R. S. Person, resulted as follows:

Proposition No. 1—Shall the district bond for improvements and additions to schools already established, as recommended by the committee of fifteen, with the proposed addition at the Glendale Intermediate school stricken out? Yes. The vote was unanimous.

Proposition No. 2—Shall the district bond for new buildings on sites now owned, as recommended by the Committee of Fifteen, and with the amount to be spent on the Glendale Intermediate school used instead on the proposed Intermediate school at Glenwood road? Yes. The vote was unanimous.

Proposition No. 3—Shall the district bond for new school buildings to be built on sites yet to be bought, as proposed by the Committee of Fifteen? Yes. The vote was unanimous.

Proposition No. 4—Shall the district bond for additions to present grounds as recommended by the Committee of Fifteen? Yes 4, No. 4.

Proposition No. 5—Shall the district bond for new sites not to be built on at this time as recommended by the Committee of Fifteen? Yes 3, No. 4.

Much Discussion

Proposition No. 4 occasioned considerable discussion on the part of both proponents and opponents of the bond issues. Mr. Person, J. R. Grey, and others, attacked the proposition. The action of the school board in securing the Glendale Realty board appraisal committee to appraise possible school sites was declared to be a joke by Mr. Grey.

"These appraisals, made by a salesman's organization, are a joke," he declared. "Why didn't the school board call on the bankers who know real values and would have given a just appraisal?"

D. J. Hibben and Judge Chase, members of the Board of Education, defended the proposed bond issues and actions of the school board. C. S. Dunning, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, vice-president of the Glendale Municipal league and E. W. Gilliland also favored the bonds in short talks.

Opposes Action

After Gilliland had spoken a second time, advocating passage of the Memorial hall bond issue to appear on the ballot at the time of the school election on June 16, he requested that the meeting take no action endorsing or rejecting the proposition, declaring that there was not a quorum of the Glendale Municipal league present to act.

Mr. Grey urged a "sweeping investigation" of affairs at the city hall, after C. W. Kinnan, Glendale attorney, had attacked the practice of spending surpluses in the public utilities budget for improvements that should come from the general fund.

Whether surplus funds to be used in building an addition at the city hall is to come from the general fund or the public utilities fund was questioned.

A committee composed of Dr. Croswell, Attorney Kinnan and J. R. Grey was appointed by Chairman Adams to investigate the matter.

DRAIN LOUISIANA LAND

NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—A tract comprising 16,000 acres in Jefferson parish fronting on Lake Ponchartrain has been purchased by a syndicate, headed by the Block Realty Co., for $800,000. The property will be drained and developed for suburban residences.

Contractor on Sewer Thanks Cave-in Aids

J. C. Hickey, general contractor in charge of the sewer construction work on Colorado street when heavy rains caused a cave-in, has sent the following letter to The Glendale Evening News:

"I wish to earnestly thank the people of Glendale who so willingly aided in the rescue work on the recent Colorado street sewer cave-in. It was through their splendid co-operation and untiring efforts that the entombed men were rescued with the least possible delay and the life of one man saved."

DRAMA PUPILS TO COMPETE TONIGHT

Eisteddfod State Finals In One-Act Plays Will Be Given At Clubhouse

Burbank High school dramatic students, winners of first place in one-act play competitions in the Glendale district Eisteddfod contests, will compete for state honors tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium against Redondo Beach High school. The competitions will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Burbank High school, under the directorship of Miss Kathryn Allen, will present "Not Much Help" a brief tragedy of war times, written by Ralph L. Zink, a student of the school. Redondo Beach contestants, directed by Miss Glayds Coblentz, will give "Allison's Lad" by Beulah Marie Dix.

The high school play competitions will form an introduction to the main program tonight in which winners in adult one-act play competitions in the Glendale Los Angeles metropolitan, Ventura and Pomona valley districts will appear. The Glendale district will be represented by the Eagle Rock Community Players who will present "Sweetmeat Game" by Ruth Comfort Mitchell. "The turtle and the Lily" will be given by the Los Angeles players. Ventura county will offer "Dregs," Pomona contestants will be seen in "My Lady Dreams."

Judges of Contests

Judges of the contests will be Mrs. Hazel C. Penny, drama specialist from the Hollywood Conservatory of Music; Maurice Browne, playright and producer, Carmel theatre of Golden Bough; and R. K. Immel, dean of the school of speech, University of Southern California, and formerly with the University of Michigan. Miss Bird Bundy, of the California Eisteddfod association, will preside and Mrs. Walter C. Fisher will act as vice-chairman of reception under Mrs. Charles H. Toll, the chairman for the week, is anticipated and many visitors from out of the city will attend. Incidental music will be given by W. A. Stoll, Mrs. Gertrude Erb, G. A. Fielstrom and Paul Ricksecker, of the Symphony orchestra.

Music Tomorrow

Music contests will again be held tomorrow night, when high school and amateur adult orchestras and bands will compete. This program, originally announced for the Glendale High school, will be held in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium. The Glendae Symphony orchestra and the Burbank High school band, both district contest winners, will represent the local district in these contests. Glendale is also represented through the Compton High school orchestra as the director. Miss Frances Payne, is a Glendale resident and a member of the Glendale Symphony orchestra.

This program, which will open at 7:30 o'clock, will include many special numbers. W. J. Kraft, of the University of California, southern branch, will preside and Mrs. Charles H. Toll will act as chairman of the reception committee, assisted by Mrs. George J. Lyons and Mrs. A. L. Baird.

Jubilee Singers At Presbyterian Church

A program of musical selections and readings will be presented Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Glendale Presbyterian church by the Friendship Baptist Jubilee singers. The program is being presented under auspices of the music committee of which Howard Brown is chairman. Dialect readings, plantation and southern melodies will be feature numbers on the program.

Corina Bush Hicks, directress, is well known throughout the country, having spent two years abroad with Loudin's Fisk Jubilee singers. Mrs. Thelma Hill Nelson will pantomime "Old Black Joe."

Hundreds Take Part In Presbyterian Rally

The social call rally held last night at Glendale Presbyterian church for those who participated in the visitation campaign held last month, was attended by 300 people. M. P. Harrison, W. A. Horn, Ira D. Vayhinger and W. A. Barnes were in charge of the affair.

Contest games formed entertainment for the evening and a short program was presented. Frank Woods sang vocal numbers accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Wiebe on the piano, and James Edmonds played violin numbers. Punch was served after the entertainment.

Woman Who Is Held As Forger Asks Bail

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—A cash bond of $250 was to be posted today to permit Mrs. Edna Brittendall, formerly of Oakland, who dressed as a man and worked as a carpenter, to care for her two children while awaiting trial on a forgery charge. The woman is accused of forging two checks totaling $24. She was held for trial following her arrest last week.

SUN IS POOR TIMEKEEPER TO EARTH

Members of Round Table Hear Astronomy Address By Professor Bolton

"The sun is a poor timekeeper and can be compared to that famed watch of Mark Twain's which could never be depended upon.

"The scrap heap of the universe is increasing. It looks as if the whole universe is drifting to chaos but we know the divine hand of the Infinite Architect will stay any such catastrophe.

"The precession of the equinoxes, each completed in 25,800 years, causes humanity to keep seeking a new north star. That fact enables us to ascertain with accuracy the age of the pyramids.

"The same Being who could create this wonderful universe must have created organic life on literally millions of other orbs."

These were some of the surprising statements made by Professor R. W. Bolton of 1327 East Broadway, in his address before the Glendale Round Table club today. Professor Bolton formerly was instructor in kinematics, the science of motion, at Carnegie School of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa. He holds two degrees, B. S. and E. E., from the University of Illinois.

The session of the round table held in the Egyptian Village Cafe, was attended by a large per cent of the members and by guests.

After the singing of "America", recital of the new pledge, and invocation by the organizer, Herman J. Powell of Santa Ana, Dr. L. L. Craven, president, told the club that the presidents of the five California clubs had been made a committee to plan for the international convention, with power to choose assistants. This convention will be held in Long Beach.

Selected Name

Carlos G. White, Oakland, international secretary, followed Dr. Craven. Mr. White formerly was assistant United States attorney. He it was who chose the name of the order, Loyal Knights of the Round Table.

Ernest Osgood was chairman of the day's program, being assisted by Ray Baker and Lincoln Hayes.

The ceremony undergone by candidates for Knighthood was explained by Mr. White. Features of this ceremony are based on the legends surrounding the old Knights of the round table. Thirty cities now have round tables.

George Lyons was introduced as a guest. He congratulated the club on having Dr. Joseph Marple to lead the singing. John Randolph Smith was presented by Dr. Lincoln Ferris.

Dr. Craven emphasized the responsibility of the Glendale club to help entertain the delegates to the forthcoming convention, especially in view of the kindness of the beach city's club toward the Glendale club in the past.

The speaker of the day, Professor Bolton, was introduced by Dr. Ferris, who paid tribute to Professor Bolton for his scientific achievements for the government during the war.

Poor Old Sun

In opening his address Professor Bolton said the sun had been looked on for many centuries as man's timekeeper but that it has been learned the sun cannot be used for the purpose since it is regularly irregular. In explaining his statement he used an apple pie, referring to the division of a pie for distribution at the table. At times when the earth is comparatively close to the sun it moves more rapidly around the solar orb than when the earth is farther away.

In some of his demonstrations the professor used an instrument resembling a surveyor's transit but called a celestial theodolite. This can accomplish all a transit can, but much more. The instrument is on a spherical mounting.

Other worlds may well contain organic life far superior to the genus homo, he asserted. He declared his belief there is no limit to space.

It looks as if the heavenly bodies are losing their heat, that the sun will in time lose its qualities, and that the scrap pile of the universe is increasing. Yet, he asserted, people can depend on the Heavenly Father to prevent chaos.

Cave-In Unavoidable Accident, Jury Holds

A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon held the death of Max Moore, Alhambra, killed in a cave-in of a sewer trench on Colorado street last Friday, due to an "unavoidable accident".

An inquest over the body of Owen Chanslor, Montrose, a city electrician killed by a high voltage wire on a pole outside the new Alexander theatre resulted in an open verdict, holding no one responsible. Death was due to electrocution, it was held.

REDUCTION IN WHEAT CROP FOR 1925

Output Is Smallest Since 1917, Estimate Made By U. S. Department

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The American wheat crop this year will be the smallest since 1917, the department of agriculture estimated this afternoon.

It was stated that the total crop, which will be about 660,885,000 bushels, will be sufficient to take care of domestic requirements. The 1924 wheat crop totaled 873,000,000 bushels.

Federal Reserve Is Loser to Small Bank

PORTLAND, Ore., June 9.—A jury in federal district court here today reaffirmed the right of small banks to start exchange when clearing checks for the Federal Reserve bank in a verdict returned in favor of the Brookings State bank of Brookings, Ore., against the Federal reserve bank of San Francisco. Actual damages of $1 were allowed, with punitive damages of $17,000.

Albert C. Agnew of San Francisco and Ralph Wilbur of Portland, attorneys for the Federal Reserve bank, were allowed thirty days in which to prepare motions for a new trial.

LEGION POSTS OVER TOP

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Thirty-five California posts have gone "over the top" in their drive for funds for the $400,000 quota allotted to this state in the $5,000,000 American Legion endowment drive for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war, it was announced today by State Commander Nathan L. Coombs.

"Eight states already have completed their work and secured their portion of the fund," added Coombs. "The work will reach its culmination this month and California must not be a laggard."

LION HUNTER FREE

PRESCOTT, Ariz., June 9.—Ramsey Patterson, noted Arizona lion hunter, was free today on murder charges in connection with the death of James Shears, 73 year old prospector, a jury acquitting Patterson after half an hour's deliberations. Patterson's plea was self defense.

Ivan Goss, 135 South Everett street, was certified today by Police Judge Norton to juvenile court on a charge of speeding. The youth was taken to juvenile hall by local officers.

Grunion Hunt Along Beaches Sport Tonight

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Thousands of Southern Californians prepared today to engage in a hunt tonight for grunion, a strange sea fish which basks along beaches once or twice a year during the full light of the moon.

The grunion are scheduled to make their annual visit tonight and tomorrow night, and if they arrive as announced will be scooped up by the thousands. The fish is said to be one of the state's most delectable.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., June 9.—Two young and pretty modern "Pied Pipers of Hamlin" have undertaken to rid the United States of rats.

The young women, Misses Helen A. Caldwell of Huntington, W. Va., and Anna Mae Wright of Portsmouth, Va., who follow the world's most unique profession for women, are armed, not with musical instruments, as was the "Pied Piper" of ancient fame, but with credentials from the secretary of agriculture and a generous supply of barium bi-carbonate.

They started their work in California in this city and after six days' work estimated that they had been the direct cause of death to 20,000 rats. They expect to campaign in this state for about four months before working eastward.

The girls do their work in cooperation with local health authorities. By the following formula they eradicate the pests in warehouses, homes and stores: To one teaspoon of barium bi-carbonate, mix three or four teaspoons of any ordinary food a rat will eat, such as meat, cheese, cereals, fruits or vegetables. For absolute results mix three kinds of food bait separately and continue for several days with whichever the rats seem to prefer.

The girls estimate that each rat, of which there are two to every inhabitant, destroys food valued at $1.82 each year, or an annual total of $200,200,000 worth of food fit for human consumption.

The girls like this work, which they took up after leaving school.

Coolidge Is Pleased With Great Reception

rain—Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion that he received closer attention from his audience of yesterday than from any other he ever appeared before.

Conditions Good

This was particularly gratifying to him because of the unpleasant experience he had three years ago, when, as vice-president, he was booed down from the same platform.

Although the president made no careful study of economic conditions in the northwest, he received the general impression that they are good. It was reported to him that crops in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota are promising. He noted in the general appearance of those who greeted him in the Twin Cities an atmosphere of prosperity and satisfaction.

Big Radio Companies In Trade Secret War

NEW YORK, June 9.—Vice-Chancellor Backes in chancery court here today continued until the final hearing of the preliminary injunction restraining the Radio Corporation of America from "spying upon the activities of the De Forest Radio corporation; from seeking to corrupt employes of the De Forest to gain information, and from putting employes into the De Forest company for that purpose or using any information which may have been obtained by such means."

The injunction was asked by the De Forest corporation, alleging that the Radio Corporation had spied upon the secrets of the former's manufacture and distribution of vacuum tubes.

SCHOOL BONDS DISCUSSED BY CLUB

Exchangeites Hear Need of Educational Structures In Glendale

Members of the Glendale Exchange club were urged to vote at the school bond election next Tuesday, when discussions on the bond issue were heard at the meeting held today noon at the Masonic temple. President William Baker, who presided at the meeting, stressed the importance of voting, and said the need of schools here was very apparent.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin urged the members to vote for the bond issue to insure the increased growth of Glendale. Many persons planning to live in Glendale are compelled to seek homes elsewhere, he said, because the school facilities here are limited. George Orgibet and C. H. Bixler also spoke on the bond issue. Major Marko, who had charge of the transportation units for Poland during the World war, and a prominent figure in Polish diplomatic circles, was presented as the guest of President Baker. Major Marko spoke briefly on his residence in the United States, and more particularly in Glendale, and promised to give an address on conditions in Poland at a future date.

Billy Wilson Sings

Billy Wilson, noted radio entertainer, furnished the entertainment at today's luncheon, singing a number of songs, and playing his own accompaniment on the banjo. R. E. Brown, proprietor of the Glendale Bootery, distributed Glendale windshield stickers to members of the club.

Visitors from the Los Angeles club present today were: George Green, president; Fred Subeth, secretary; F. R. Palmateer and Ed Kline. C. H. Bixler was named chairman of the committee on Spanish costumes for the dinner on June 23.

George Hallett, acting as secretary in the absence of T. F. Culhane, read a letter from the Chamber of Commerce on the proposed Glendale boulevard bridge. The matter was referred to the civics committee, headed by W. R. Vanderwood. Carl Christy reported on attendance.

MANY POLICE 'FLUNK'

LOS ANGELES, June 9—More than two-thirds of the men who seek to become members of the Los Angeles police department and are able to meet the physical requirements to be patrolmen, "flunk" in the police training school, Chief of Police Heath today informed the police commission.

The chief declared that three months ago seventy-one applicants were declared physically fit to be members of the police department and this number comprised a class in the police training school. A total of forty-five men of this number, however, the chief declared, were unable to make the proper grades in the training school, and were either forced to resign or dismissed.

The cost to the city of the men who failed to meet the qualifications totaled $18,900, the chief's report showed. Upon entering the school, the men were placed on the payrolls at a salary of $140 per month.

HAIRDRESSER BLAMED

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Alleged suspicious actions on the part of Charles H. Sipman with a hairdresser whom his wife, Mrs. H. Sipman, invited to the house, caused Mrs. Sipman mental suffering, according to her complaint for divorce, which was filed today.

When the hairdresser left, Sipman went with her, ostensibly to escort her home, according to the complaint, which recited that he did not return until 1 o'clock in the morning. Meantime, Mrs. Sipman called up the hairdresser's home and found she did not go there, it was alleged. In the five weeks following the hairdresser's visit to the Sipman home, Sipman was home only two nights, Mrs. Sipman declared.

LONDON PRESS COMMENTS ON PACT

Receive Security Agreement With Vast Degree of Coldness, Report

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, June 9.—The security pact agreement reached at Geneva between France and Great Britain and under which Britain agrees to defend France's western frontiers with British arms, if necessary, was received by the British press today with marked coolness.

While the press expressed doubt and misgivings concerning the pact, the foreign office announced today that it is "unreservedly satisfied" with the agreement negotiated by Mr. Chamberlain.

"It is Britain's contribution to the peace of Europe," said the foreign office. Neither the newspapers nor the public apparently are satisfied with the semi-official French version of the pact's terms as announced at Geneva.

Fear Omissions

The Daily Telegraph warned its readers against forming too hasty conclusions concerning the agreement, pointing out that the versions published thus far are French versions and that there are apparent "omissions."

"What does Great Britain get?" asked the Telegraph, after emphasizing that the published accounts fail to make it plain that the pact is a mutual obligation. The Telegraph also called attention to the fact Italy was apparently not included in the agreement and asks why not. Throughout the comment ran the intimation that the published version of the pact from French sources is inaccurate.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express comments in a sarcastic vein. "Britain adopts the Rhine frontier," the Express declared. "A century of isolation is ended. Great Britain now declares herself to be a continental power, pledged to war if the Rhne frontier is violated."

Restraint Urged

The Daily Chronicle warned the British electorate to keep a close eye on the negotiations and said that "unless Chamberlain is restrained he will go further and further."

"There is no need of promising what we won't give," concluded the Chronicle.

The conversations between the French and British foreign ministers at Geneva resulted in a general agreement on the line of the pact's terms, according to advices received in London, but it will be months yet before anything formal will be signed. Meantime Germany's entrance to the League of Nations must be accomplished and many things can happen.

Leaves Pact Open

In discussing the pact a foreign office official said today the Geneva agreement merely constitutes a basis for further amicable discussion as to details, thereby controverting to some degree the optimistic French version that everything is settled.

To the press objecton that France apparently won all her points, the foreign office replied that it meant as much to Germany as to France, because Germany's frontiers are also guaranteed. And it was emphasized that Great Britain will not interfere in the quarrels of Europe unless these Rhineland frontiers are involved.

Shepherd Employe Is Before Grand Jurors

CHICAGO, June 9.—Miss Eva Peterson, stenographer in the office of William D. Shepherd, was brought to the criminal court building today on a grand jury subpoena. It is understood she was to be questioned in connection with the case against Shepherd, who is charged with having caused the death of his ward, William Nelson McClintock.

THE other day in sort of checking up in our Drapery Section we noticed we had altogether too many low-priced cretonnes in our stock. We had a feeling we were buying too many of them, especially as Glendale is a poor place for anything other than "top-notch stuff," and yet they looked so much like something better we forgot. But then, often in our better homes we find a place where we want something colorful and attractive, at the same time inexpensive.

Also at this time of year the mountain cabin or the seaside cottage needs a little building up, owing to salt air and fogs, and we dislike to hang expensive fabrics. Consequently an opportunity of this kind is appreciated.

These cretonnes are 36 ins. wide and sell generally at 25c per yard. However, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week we are going to sell all we can at

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"'Yes, I believe that now!' Madame cried in the hoarse, harsh voice we knew: 'Stripped, eh? Stripped to the skin!' and she laughed wildly; and then came the sound, as though—yes, it might have been that!—as though she were forced down and held, and Madame's voice died to a mumble and then silence—and then the other voice in a low, clear whisper, 'That will do now.' And all the while I stood in the darkness—oh!"

"What did you do after that clear whisper reached your ears?" Hanaud commanded. "Take your hands from your face, if you please, and let me hear."

Ann Upcott obeyed him. She flung her head back with the tears streaming down her face.

"I turned," she whispered. "I went out of the room. I closed the door behind me—oh, ever so gently. I fled."

"Fled? Fled? Where to?"

"Up the stairs! To my room."

"And you rang no bell? You roused no one? You fled to your room! You hid your head under the bedclothes like a child! Come, come, Mademoiselle!"

Hanaud broke off his savage irony to ask,

"And whose voice did you think it was that whispered so clearly, 'That will do now?' The stranger's you spoke of in the library this morning?"

"No, Monsieur," Ann replied. "I could not tell. With a whisper one voice is like another."

"But you must have given that voice an owner. To run away and hide—no one would do that."

"I thought it was Jeanne Baudin's."

And Hanaud sat back in his chair again, gazing at the girl with a look in which there was as much horror as incredulity. Jim Frobisher stood behind him ashamed of his very race. Could there be a more transparent subterfuge? If she thought that the nurse Jeanne Baudin was in the bedroom, why did she turn and fly?

"Come, Mademoiselle," said Hanaud. His voice had suddenly become gentle, almost pleading. "You will not make me believe that."

Ann Upcott turned with a helpless gesture towards Betty.

"You see!" she said.

"Yes," Betty answered. She sat in doubt for a second or two and then sprang to her feet.

"Wait!" she said, and before any one could have stopped her she was skimming half-way across the garden to the house. Jim Frobisher wondered whether Hanaud had meant to stop her and then had given up the idea as quite out of the question. Certainly he had made some small quick movement; and even now, he watched Betty's flight across the broad lawn between the roses with an inscrutable queer look.

"To run like that!" he said to Frobisher, "with a boy's nimbleness and a girl's grace! It is pretty, eh? The long slim legs that twinkle, the body that floats!" and Betty ran up the stone steps into the house.

There was a tension in Hanaud's attitude with which his light words did not agree, and he watched the blank windows of the house with expectancy. Betty, however, was hardly a minute upon her errand. She reappeared upon the steps with a largish envelope in her hand and quickly rejoined the group.

"Monsieur, we have tried to keep this back from you," she said, without bitterness, but with a deep regret. "I yesterday, Ann today, just as we have tried for many years to keep it from all Dijon. But there is no help for it now."

She opened the envelope and, taking out a cabinet photograph, handed it to Hanaud.

"This is the portrait of Madame, my aunt, at the time of her marriage with my uncle."

It was the three-quarter length portrait of a woman, slender with the straight carriage of youth, in whose face a look of character had replaced youth's prettiness. It was a face made spiritual by suffering, the eyes shadowed and wistful, the mouth tender, and conveying even in the hard medium of a photograph some whimsical sense of humor. It made Jim Frobisher, gazing over Hanaud's shoulder, exclaim not "She was beautiful," but "I would like to have known her."

"Yes! A companion," Hanaud added.

Betty took a second photograph from the envelope.

"But this, Monsieur, is the same lady a year ago."

The second photograph had been taken at Monte Carlo, and it was difficult to believe that it was of the same woman, so tragic a change had taken place within those ten years. Hanaud held the portraits side by side. The grace, the suggestion of humor had all gone; the figure had grown broad, the features coarse and heavy; the cheeks had fattened, the lips were pendulous; and there was nothing but violence in the eyes. It was a dreadful picture of collapse.

"It is best to be precise, Mademoiselle," said Hanaud gently, "though these photographs tell their unhappy story clearly enough. Madame Harlowe, during the last years of her life, drank?"

"Since my uncle's death," Betty exclaimed. "Her life, as very likely you know already, had been rather miserable and lonely before she married him. But she had a dream then on which to live. After Simon Harlowe died, however—" and she ended her explanation with a gesture.

"Yes," Hanaud replied, "of course, Mademoiselle, we have known, Monsieur Frobisher and I, ever since we came into this affair that there was some secret. We knew it before your reticence of yesterday or Mademoiselle Upcott's of today. Waberski must have known of something which you would not care to have exposed before he threatened your lawyers in London, or brought his charges against you."

"Yes, he knew and the doctors and the servants of course, who were very loyal. We did our best to keep our secret but we could never be sure that we had succeeded."

A friendly smile broadened Hanaud's face.

"Well, we can make sure now and here," he said, and both the girls and Jim stared at him.

"How?" they exclaimed in an incredulous voice.

Hanaud beamed. He held them in suspense. He spread out his hands. The artist, as he would have said, the mountebank as Jim Frobisher would have expressed it, had got the upper hand in him, and prepared his effect.

"By answering me one simple question," he said. "Have either of you two ladies received an anonymous letter upon the subject?"

The test took them all by surprise; yet each one of them recognized immediately that they could hardly have a better. All the secrets of the town had been exploited at one time or another by this unknown person or group of persons—all the secrets that is, except this one of Mrs. Harlowe's degradation. For Betty answered,

"No! I never received one."

"Nor I," added Ann.

"Then your secret is your secret still," said Hanaud.

"For how long now?" Betty asked quickly, and Hanaud did not answer a word. He could make no promise without being false to what he had called his creed.

"It is a pity," said Betty, wistfully. "We have striven so hard, Ann and I," and she gave to the two men a glimpse of the life the two girls had led in the Maison Grenelle. "We could do very little. We had neither of us any authority. We were both of us dependent upon Madame's generosity, and though no one could have been kinder when—when Madame was herself, she was not easy when she had—the attacks. There was too much difference in age between us and her for us really to do anything but keep guard.

"She would not brook interference; she drank alone in her bedroom; she grew violent and threatening if any one interfered. She would turn them all into the street. If she needed any help she could ring for the nurse, as indeed she sometimes, though rarely, did." It was a dreadful and wearing life as Betty Harlowe described it for the two young sentinels.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SONG SPARROW

Once upon a time the song sparrow flew out of the woods where he lived and fluttered to a big city. The song sparrow is a bird in looks almost like the little chirping sparrows that you see every day, summer and winter. Except that the song sparrow sings most beautifully, while chirping sparrows do not. But only when the song sparrow sings can you forget that his plain brown and gray feathers are like those of the other bird.

Reaching the big city, the song sparrow sang his sweetest song and then, to his surprise, from the window of a house near by, he heard a song almost like his own.

"Oh, ho!" whistled the song sparrow, "I did not know any of my bird friends were here. How glad I am!"

"I am not of your kind," sang the other bird. "I am a yellow canary and I live in a golden cage!" There was a fluttering of yellow wings and then the song sparrow saw, hanging in an open window, a gilded cage. Within the cage, hopping from perch to perch, was the canary. And when the canary sang and the song sparrow sang you could hardly have said which song was the sweeter for both were beautiful.

"Come fly away to the woods with me!" invited the song sparrow to the canary. "We are the most wonderful singers in the world and we can give a concert. Come to the woods!"

"No, I must stay in my gold cage," whistled the canary. "I can not get out if I wanted to."

"Oh! You can't get out?" whispered the sparrow in surprise.

"No, but I don't mind staying here," sang the canary. "I never need hunt for seed to eat, and my mistress gives me fresh water every day. In my cage no cats can catch me. I am safe and never hungry."

"Well, I can't say as much as that myself," said the sparrow. "I have to fly around very fast to get enough food to eat and only this morning a cat nearly caught me."

And then when the song sparrow saw what a beautiful cage the canary lived in, and when it saw the white cup of seeds and the white cup of water, the song sparrow wished it might become a canary.

"There is no reason why I shouldn't be a canary," thought the sparrow as it flew back to the woods. "I can sing as sweetly as one, and all I need to do is to have yellow feathers. I know what I shall do! I shall take a lot of yellow dandelion and buttercup flowers and put them in the spring. The blossoms will turn the water yellow. I will jump in the yellow water and color my feathers. Then I shall be a canary and live in a golden cage."

So the song sparrow picked in its bill many yellow blossoms and cast them into a woodland spring. Then into the water it fluttered. But the water was deep and the blossoms floating in it tangled around the bird's legs and wings so that he could not get out.

"Oh, I am drowning! Help! Help!" cried the song sparrow.

Uncle Wiggily happened to be hopping through the woods, looking for an adventure. He heard the frightened bird's cries.

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny gentleman, hopping to the edge of the spring. "What are you doing there in the water, song sparrow?" he inquired.

"I am trying to turn into a canary," sadly answered the bird. "But I guess I have made a mistake!"

"I'm sure you have!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then, with his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch the rabbit gentleman lifted the song sparrow out from the spring and dried its wings on some soft moss, warmed in the sun. Then when its feathers were no longer wet, the song sparrow perched on a tree and sang a sweet song.

"That is as it should be," said the bunny, twinkling his pink nose. "You would be out of place in a golden cage," and the song sparrow never again wanted to fly away from the woods where it belonged. And if the egg beater doesn't try to make a snowy ball out of the boiled rice to throw at the ice man, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the doodle bug.

VARIOUS PROBES ARE UNDER WAY

Government Bureau Testing Toughness of Beef and Strength of Eggs

By ROBERT A. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The government's insatiable thirst for investigation took a new turn today when the bureau of standards announced a study of the toughness of beef, crushing strength of eggs and breaking point of hog legs.

Scientists with the bureau are now investigating virtually every detail of human existence.

Sizes and contours of flappers' hosiery, the chewing power of false teeth, the heat of the stars, effect of solar eclipse on radio; birth of pigs under painted canvases, synthetic sugar, weight of the earth, warming powers of ultra violet rays are some of the subjects under official scrutiny.

The statement of George K. Burgess, director of the bureau of standards, that tests made by machines will measure the toughness of beef, will be checked with the opinions of expert meat eaters, makes it evident that the bureau will serve some free lunches as soon as the investigation gets under way.

HUNT MISSING GIRL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Police here today were searching for Miss Bobbie Novakofski, 24, Los Angeles girl, who left the southern city for San Francisco a week ago, according to Maxwell Beauman, the girl's fiance. Miss Novakofski, who was to have been married on her arrival, has apparently disappeared, Beauman told officers. She is described as five feet five inches in height, brown hair and brown eyes.

CITY UNDER SEA

LONDON, June 9.—A Phoenician city beneath the sea—one of the most important archaeological discoveries of modern times—has been discovered by an Arab fisherman, about 500 yards off the coast of Jerab.

HEART DISEASE

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—Heart disease claimed more victims in California during 1924 than any other disease, according to an analysis of mortality statistics made public by L. E. Ross, chief of the state bureau of vital statistics. Out of a total of 56,751 deaths, 10,572 resulted from heart trouble, Ross said. Nervous diseases accounted for 6383 deaths, while tuberculosis was third with 6023.

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

THE STAFF OF LIFE (Part 1)

There is no one who does not have a happy memory of some meal he thinks of as "the best meal" he ever had. I'll tell you of one of mine.

I had been in attendance on a patient all night and up to 3 o'clock the following afternoon helping the advent of a new baby in a household where there was hardly sufficient to eat for the family, so I had had nothing to eat or drink except some coffee. Coming home exhausted, without even waiting to remove my clothes, I threw myself on my bed and slept soundly for an hour or so. I awoke very much refreshed, but, naturally, famished. There was nothing in my refrigerator except a quart bottle of milk and nothing in my light-housekeeping larder except a quarter-loaf of bread. But, believe me, I pounced on 'em, and I can truthfully say I never enjoyed a meal more in my life than I did that one.

That "just bread and milk" furnished me a delicious, easily digested and almost perfectly balanced meal. It would be to our great advantage undoubtedly if we had, quite frequently, such a simple meal as this. In our other meals we could make up for the deficiency of some of the vitamins of this meal.

Bread, not without just cause, has always been considered the staff of life. In Biblical times, and even today, we use the term bread as synonymous with food in general: In the Lord's prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread"; and "Break bread with me," the phrases extending hospitality, recognize this. There is no other food that is so universally eaten and liked, as bread. No meal seems complete without it. Good bread, although mildly flavored, is delicious and satisfying, and it is one of the most valuable of energy foods.

Breads are made of different grains, but wheat bread is the one most universally liked and used in America.

Whole Wheat Vs. White Bread

There is no doubt that bread made of the whole grains containing the germ and part of the bran, has greater food value in regard to the proteins, vitamins and mineral elements, and the whole wheat as the bread that should be consumed as a steady diet, because of this fact.

It used to be thought that because there wasn't complete digestion of whole wheat bread, that refined white bread, which is more completely digested, had a greater food value; but we know now that the superiority of protein, and the greater proportion of vitamins and mineral elements in the whole wheat bread, more than compensate for this loss.

Some pseudo-scientific writers who are carried away with their enthusiasm state that unless food is a complete food it is a poison. This is nonsense. There is no single food that is complete. (Milk comes nearer to being a complete food than any other food).

If you like white bread there is no reason why you should not have it, at least part of the time, if you make up for its deficiency with milk, fresh vegetables and fruits. If white bread is made with milk, its biologic food value is greatly enhanced. (The same, of course, applies to whole wheat bread).

There are many, especially those underweight, who can with advantage eat more bread and butter and milk. Those overweight, of course, have to limit the bread because it is such a good energy food, and it is the energy food that has to be limited in reducing.

A good rule for the O W's is never more than one slice of bread, faintly touched with butter (if at all) at a meal unless they want to make a complete meal of bread and milk frequently. A good plan as I have before stated. (One slice, one half inch thick, 100 calories. Milk, eight ounces—a glass—160 C's. Skim milk half as much).

A. E.: "How shall I clean a wool flannel dress—just wash it in soap chips?"

Answer: Wash it in a basin of gasoline, out of doors (not near heat or flame, as gasoline is extremely inflammable). Souse it up and down, of course using no soap, then rinse in another basin of clean gasoline and hang on line for several days, till the odor is evaporated. Press. There will be no shrinkage if done in this way.

Mrs. T. L. B.: "I wonder if you or any of your readers can give me a recipe for fish cooked in the Italian style and called 'Cheppino?'"

Answer: I do not happen to have this recipe, but perhaps some kind reader who has, will write it on a post-card and mail it to me in care of this paper for publication?

Married Two Years: "Last spring I put down eggs in water glass, but when I came to take them out, months later, and tried to boil them for breakfast I found they generally broke. Why? And can it be avoided? My husband likes them boiled best of all ways."

Answer: You should have pricked each egg with a pin or needle in the large end before putting it in the hot water to boil. For the pores of the shell are sealed by the preserving solution and the egg will therefore crack unless pricked.

E. B.: "What will keep patent leather shoes from cracking?"

Answer: Keep them in a fairly warm place, and oil them occasionally or rub a little white vaseline on the surface. For patent leather, like all leathers, needs oiling now and then to keep it pliant.

Mrs. H.: "Can varnish and paint remover be made at home?"

Answer: Home Made Varnish and Paint Remover: Ordinary washing soda is an excellent remover; dissolve one pound of it in from five to six quarts of boiling water and apply. Or you can use potash instead if you wish, as follows: Dissolve one pound of potash in six quarts of cold water and apply. Ammonia, in full strength, is another paint and varnish remover. Always do much work out of doors, when possible, so that you will not inhale more fumes than necessary After applying either of these three fluids, by means of a swab tied on the end of a stick (never use the hands, as these fluids are caustic and will burn), leave it awhile, to allow the varnish or paint to soften. Then remove by boiling water.

SHOPPERS FLOCK TO WEBB'S STORE

Report Largest Single Day's Business At Opening Of Anniversary Sale

The largest single day's business in the history of the store, is the way officials of H. S. Webb Co., describe the opening day of their eighth anniversary. From early morning until closing hours, the store was thronged with shoppers eager to share in the many splendid offerings put forth in celebration of the sale which marks the eighth year of business here.

All details for the event had been prepared for several weeks. Special merchandise at special prices had been stocked in anticipation of heavy business. The event, now in progress, is scheduled to last until Saturday night.

The H. S. Webb Co. is one of Glendale's leading institutions, founded by Harry S. Webb in 1917, on South Brand boulevard near Broadway. As the business grew, Mr. Webb was forced to seek larger quarters, and the site at 139 North Brand boulevard was purchased. Mr. Webb and his employes unite in extending an invitation to all Glendalians to visit the store during the anniversary event.

Noted Astronomer To Lecture In Glendale

Philip Knox, nationally known astronomer-evangelist, will lecture in the Knox tabernacle, a large pavilon which is being erected at the corner of North Brand boulevard and California street, having a seating capacity of more than 3000 persons. These lectures will be illustrated with actual photographs taken through the world's largest telescope, of other worlds, suns, comets, island universes, and the curiosities of the sky.

The language used by the lecturer will not be technical, it is said, but suited to the understanding of people not educated in astronomical science. Mr. Knox is the owner of a Brashear telescope, which he will have mounted at the tabernacle for the educational advantage of the public. Through this telescope can be seen the mountains and valleys on the moon, the rings and moons of Saturn, the belts and moons of Jupiter, and other fascinating sights of the heavens. The program of these lectures follows: Thursday, June 18: "The Wonders of Our Solar System." Friday, June 19: "Seeing God's Universe Through Powerful Telescopes." Saturday, June 20: "Great Astronomical Discoveries Confirming Christianity." Sunday, June 21: "Other Worlds Inhabited"; positive proof presented.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

M. E. B.—The dark circles around your eyes, the lifelessness of your skin, the underweight and the tendency to these serious colds are probably all traceable to this condition your doctor terms anemia. Of course a physician must give you treatment.

An X-Ray of your teeth might enlighten you as to the reason why you have this discharge from the nasal passages, and it may even be helpful in getting at the cause of your anemia.

Blondie—Have your doctor remove the mole if you feel it disfigures, but do NOT try any experiments with it yourself as you could easily leave a permanent scar. Bleach your neck with either lemon or cucumber juice.

Red Head—A girl of 18 years, height five feet four inches, should weigh about 115 pounds.

Obliged—I think you would be very uncomfortable if you wore a pad around the calf of your leg. Try to fatten the calf by massaging it and using cocoa butter or some other nourishing oil. If you are too thin all over, drink plenty of milk and do everything you can to build up your health, for this would be the only way to round out your figure.

Janice: Fleur De Lis—Massage your ankles using warm cocoa butter to fatten them. It depends upon your own condition how long it will take to show results. If you can build up your general weight you will see an improvement in your ankles in much less time than by giving the massage.

Dola—I do not know why people think that if they drink water they will get fat, but the idea may have resulted from that very erroneous idea that fat people must be healthy.

It is necessary to health that you drink plenty of water, and if you are too fat, the water will help you get rid of some of it; if too thin, the water will help you keep the system clean and therefore you will have a better chance to add to your weight. Continue to drink the six glasses daily or several more if need be.

Violet—The advice above concerning drinking water will help you also so you will overcome the cause for your oily skin. Cucumber juice makes a good skin bleach at this season of the year.

Anxious—Just as soon as you have fully recovered from the operation and use the leg, there will be an improvement that will continue until you find that both legs are the same size again.

Tomorrow—Teeth

FIREMEN DEFEAT CHURCHMEN, 8-5

Smoke-Eaters Held to Eight Hits By Bates; Milkmen Will Play Today

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff

The Christian Church team showed that it will be a contender in the Twilight league race when Bates, youthful hurler for the Churchmen, held the hard-hitting Firemen to eight hits and as many runs, while his team mates were gathering five hits and five runs off Ingram and Siemson. The game was played at the Broadway High school grounds.

Thompson started the scoring for the Churchmen when he lifted one out into centerfield that went to the fence, enabling him to circle the bases. Three more runs came in the fourth, when Cole walked, Mize rapped a double to left, scoring Cole; Bates hit a double to left, scoring Mize, went to third on a passed ball and raced home on Wimmer's single. The Churchmen's other score came in the fifth. Thompson was hit by Siemson, after Bowers walked. Cole was safe, but forced Bowers at third. Mize singled, scoring Thompson.

The firemen forged ahead in the first inning, and kept in the lead. McKay walked. Hodges flied to Shawhan. Thomas singled, scoring McKay. Aimon hit to H. Shawhan, Thomas scoring when Shawhan tried to catch him coming into second and threw the ball away. Siemson was thrown out at first.

Merry-Go-Round

The smoke-eaters had a merry-go-round in the second. Myers sent a hot one down first-base line. Ingram walked. Eves got a fielder's choice. Rockwell fanned. McKay doubled, after Myers had been forced at third. McKay's hit scored Ingram and Eves. Hodges hit to left, scoring McKay. Thomas singled, but Aimon ended the inning by being thrown out at first.

Three more runs were added by the fire laddies in the fourth, when they were only one run behind the churchmen. McKay fanned. Hodges single to center. Thomas walked. Aimon cleaned up the bases when he drove the pill into center field. It was a triple, but Aimon raced home when Mize held the ball too long to catch the runner at the plate. Siemson was thrown out at first, and Manker fanned.

This afternoon the Glendale Creamery and the Calla Lily teams will hook up. Tomorrow afternoon the Radios and Public Service aggregations take the field.

XLII—Fasting for Health

It cannot be stated too strongly nor too often that the feeding of those who are sick with acute diseases is one of the greatest crimes of the present day.

Fasting is by no means a new idea. It is far older than the history of civilized man, for, whenever suffering from wounds or disease it has been the invariable habit of lower animals to always fast until the period of danger was passed. When the apes of the ape colony in Africa become civilized they will perhaps be forced to eat when sick, much the same as I have seen parents make their sick children eat death dealing combinations when they were not able to sit up, the children complaining that they were not hungry and did not want food.

The Bible and the religious books of all peoples contain many injunctions as to fasting and the benefits arising therefrom to the body, mind and soul were accepted as a matter of course in ancient times. The Roman Catholic church has always believed and taught the efficacy of fasting, and fast days as well as feast days occur with frequent regularity on their calendar.

John Calvin and John Wesley, the founders respectively of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches, both strongly advocated fasting for the benefit of both preachers and people. The Hindus and other mystics of all ages have not only advocated fasting, but followed the practice, even for long periods at a time.

Broken bones heal much quicker when no food other than water is taken into the body.

Tomorrow—Living Without Food.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Bill Wambsganss of the Boston Red Sox is the first big league player this season to achieve a record of fourteen fielding chances accepted in one nine inning ball game.

There have been higher records in other years, but anybody who accepts fourteen is entitled to at least three cheers. Wambsganss, moreover, has accepted eight chances per game in eight games, which is a better record than any other player can claim; has accepted nine chances twice and eleven once.

Several infielders have accepted twelve in a game, including Critz of Cincinnati, Adams of the Cubs, Collins of the Chicago White Sox, Wright of Pittsburgh, Jackson of the Giants and O'Rourke of the Detroit.

Of course the greatest fielding distinction that ever came to "Wamby" was the unassisted triple play that he made in Cleveland in the world series with Brooklyn. The play happened so fast that many fans did not catch up with it until the next day. Had this veteran second baseman been able to bat as well as he can field, he would have been one of the greatest stars of the game.

Cleveland let Wamby go in a trade which seemed to be advantageous but today if Wamby were giving Cleveland the fielding steadiness of which he is capable, the Indians might be moving on a little better.

Wamby batted as high as .295 once in his major league career and five years after that got back to .290, but he could not be written down as a slugger at his best.

The only infielder in the American league, however, who is giving Wamby a race in the field is McManus of the St. Louis Browns.

HORNSBY HITS

Rogers Hornsby, prince of batters, won the game for St. Louis against Brooklyn by singling in the ninth for the needed run. Score, 6 to 5.

EXPECTS BOUT IN HEAVY ROW SOON

Sport Critic Believes Jack Will Be Called Upon To Defend Title

By GEORGE BARRY
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 9.—A heavyweight championship fight for next fall, with Jack Dempsey defending his newly-made nose, is more than a possibility, according to plans now under discussion by the people who promote championship fights.

The removal of Tom Gibbons from the list of contenders has simplified matters exceedingly. So long as Tom was undefeated, and so long as the memory of his gallant fifteen-round stand against the champion at Shelby was still green, a championship fight could hardly be figured without taking Tom into consideration.

Then Tunney gained a technical right at least to be considered an opponent for Dempsey.

After June 19, when Harry Wills meets Charley Weinert, the situation will be further clarified. The predominant opinion in local fight circles is that Wills is going to shoot with everything he has in his bout with Weinert, in order to prove his right to a meeting with Dempsey. And the opinion is that the Senegambian will win by a couple of city blocks.

Tunney and Wills

This process of elimination, if it works out according to calculations, will inevitably bring Tunney and Wills together, the winner to have a crack at Dempsey. A Wills-Tunney fight on labor day is one of the things talked about.

Billy Gibson, who manages Tunney, said today he plans to "make Jack Dempsey decide whether he is a fighter or an actor."

"Fight Wills?" said Gibson. "Sure we will fight Wills. That is exactly what we plan to do, providing Dempsey stays in his shell, and providing, too, that Harry is able to dispose of Weinert on June 19."

Four Boats Preparing To Run To South Seas

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Four boats were being given finishing touches here today for the 3665-mile yacht race from San Francisco to Tahiti, in the South seas, which is scheduled to start from the Golden Gate tomorrow afternoon. The winner of the race, which is one of the longest on record, will be awarded the Lipton trophy. In addition a cup will be awarded the first craft to sail into Tahiti, regardless of handicap. The race is expected to last three weeks.

MOTHER HEROINE

DOWNIEVILLE, Cal., June 9.—Bravely risking her life to save her son, Billy, who was suspended fifty feet above the east fork of the Yuba river on a broken suspension bridge, Mrs. William Lloyd of this city made her way over the tottering bridge, seized her boy and carried him to safety. A moment later the entire bridge collapsed.

BOSTON DEFEATED

Pittsburgh punched three Boston pitchers all over the lot and won, 8 to 4.

Six Boxing Bouts On Card At Elks' Program

Six snappy boxing bouts featured the monthly Jinks party held at the Elks' clubhouse last night. The outstanding battle, while not the main event, was between Johnny Savage and Ray Currier, and provided the most fun on the program. The first part of the card was under the supervision of Young Abe Attell, while the last half of the card was handled by Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, and now a member of Burbank lodge No. 1497. A brief lodge session preceded the boxing bouts, and following the entertainment program a Spanish feed was served in the basement dining room. H. E. McCartney and Gus Pulliam arranged the entertainment.

Results of the bouts last night follow: Pat Carey won by a technical knockout over Kid Perry in the third round, 128 pounds; Willie O'Brien drew with Scotty Chester, 135 pounds; Fighting Barela drew with Joe Rabago at 115 pounds; Joe Racer, Glendale, knocked out Joe Martinez in the second round; Jack Carr of Glendale, knocked out Pete Sanchez in the first round.

PHILS DROP GAME

The Reds tallied four runs in the first from their former teammate, Jimmy Ring, and defeated the Phils, 5 to 2.

Firestone BALLOONS WIN Battle of Tires

Set new speed records at Indianapolis Track

"Gum-Dipped Balloons Helped Me Break World Record" — Says Peter De Paolo

Without Firestone Balloons I couldn't have put it over. I felt safe on those big tires—and could maintain the higher speeds on the treacherous turns, enabling me to finish the race with the average of 101.13 miles per hour—breaking all track records from 10 to 500 miles. I finished without the usual physical exhaustion—it was the most comfortable race I ever drove on the Indianapolis track.

Peter De Paolo

With the same type of car—same size motors—and for the most part, the same drivers—and over the same race track—a new World's record was set on Firestone Balloons at Indianapolis May 30, 1925, of 101.13 miles average per hour for the full 500 miles—beating the 1924 Indianapolis World's record of 98.23 miles on Firestone regular cords.

Twenty-one cars started—ten finished "in the money" on Firestone Balloons. Never before have tires been subjected to such a gruelling test—one more convincing testimonial for Firestone's extra process of Gum-Dipping that eliminates internal friction and heat.

POSTAL RATES HELD BAN TO BOOSTING

Increased Charges Working Hardships On California Concerns, Claim

Increased postal rates, particularly on newspapers and periodicals, are causing a falling off in postoffice revenue, and also preventing California persons and firms from sending booster material to eastern friends, declares H. S. McCormack. Mr. McCormack, in a letter to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, which is made public today, says:

"Like many other California concerns, we are purchasing large quantities of newspapers and mailing them back east, for the purpose of advertising California and Glendale especially, but now that the rates are doubled, tripled and quadrupled, we will, to a very large extent, curtail our purchase of newspapers and other printed matter. Under the new rates we are called upon to pay four cents postage on papers which formerly could be mailed for one cent, other periodicals which formerly could be mailed for two cents, now require eight cents, thus making this method of advertising California prohibitive.

"This loss in business will not alone fall upon our local postoffices but our local newspapers, printers, advertising agencies, duplicating offices, all of which losses, in turn, will be reflected on the business equipment firms and in the final analysis, it is doubtful if any portion of the country will suffer quite as much as California while the present rates are in effect."

Losses in Revenue

Mr. McCormack cites portions of the postmaster general's report, which states that losses occur in franking privileges, foreign and special mail services, parcels post and rural mail deliveries. Postmaster Jackson, in commenting on the matter, says:

"We are anxiously watching the result of the increased postage, but have hardly had an opportunity to try out for any length of time in order to observe the effect on our residents, which can be better determined by a quarterly comparison. It may be that when the rates are thoroughly understood by the patrons of the office there will be something different to report. However, they are in a way experimental."

Despatches from Washington indicate that the decrease, based on the postal receipts for May, will run more than $12,000,000 a year.

Mr. McCormack said that a number of business men he had talked to concerning the matter were heartily in favor of the increase in pay for postal employes, but they did not approve of the method followed in meeting the additional wages.

Keep Border Open In Kindness To Greeters

SAN DIEGO, June 9.—Eight hundred hotel men were registering this morning preparatory to the formal opening this afternoon of the fifteenth annual convention of the Greeters of America. Frank P. Hanna of Pittsburgh, president of the national organization, arrived yesterday with two special trains bearing eastern and middle western Greeters.

More than a score of Los Angeles Greeters were aiding San Diego in entertaining the visitors. By special arrangement the border line will be kept open until midnight Thursday and Friday nights in order that the hotel men may "do" Tia Juana after business of the convention in San Diego.

Shut Off Source Of Santa Barbara's Gin

SANTA BARBARA, June 9.—With Robert King, 31, in jail here today, authorities believed Santa Barbara's main source of high priced liquor was under control. King was arrested late last night as he was entering the city in an automobile laden with fifteen cases of imported Scotch whiskey and 100 quarts of gin intended for local consumption.

According to police, King had been making regular trips between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara over a highly organized delivery route.

Dynamite In Stump Kills Daring Farmer

EUREKA, Cal., June 9.—Because he wanted to know why a dynamite charge beneath a tree stump had not exploded when it should have, Emil I. Sorenson, rancher of McKinleyville, was dead today. When the charge failed to explode Sorenson returned to the stump. Just then the dynamite exploded, killing him instantly. Sorenson's 10-year-old son witnessed the accident.

Rancher Is Drowned In Irrigating Ditch

HOLLISTER, Cal., June 9.—James Renfrow, 40, of Hollister, was dead here today as the result of an odd accident. While irrigating an orchard he fell face down in eight inches of water and was drowned.

PAGEANT PLAY NEXT YEAR PLANNED

Celebration This Fall To Mark Anniversary Of State Undecided

A pageant-play, to have for its background the early Spanish history of Southern California, and to center around the lives of the Verdugos and the events in history which took place on the great Verdugo rancho of which Glendale is now a part, will be produced in Glendale commencing with the fall of 1926 and will be held annually as an event to attract tourists from all parts of the state.

An outline of the proposed play was given by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club and chairwoman of the Glendale Spanish Fiesta program committee. Her plans for the historical pageant were outlined in a lengthy report made to the Spanish Fiesta committee, headed by William L. Twining, which met at the office of the Glendale Realty board yesterday afternoon.

Prize for Play

Whether or not Glendale will stage a formal celebration this year in connection with the seventy-fifth jubilee celebration throughout the state, was not decided at the meeting. Sufficient time to prepare a pageant-play for this year does not remain between now and September 9, the date scheduled for Glendale's celebration, Mrs. Montgomery pointed out. Whether there will be a less elaborate observance carried out will be decided later.

The use of the natural amphitheatre in Verdugo park for the staging of a historical drama was urged by Mrs. Montgomery in her report. A prize of $500 to the Glendalian writing the best play manuscript, weaving the story around the early life of the Verdugo family, descendants of which still live in and around Glendale, will be offered by the fiesta committee. It was estimated that approximately 200 persons will appear in the play. Twenty of these will take leading roles and will be chosen from well known Southern California talent. The entire cost of the pageant would approximate $10,000, Mrs. Montgomery estimated.

Coast Magnate Plans Big Department Store

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—It was reported here today that Benjamin F. Schlesinger, Pacific coast department store magnate, had acquired a $1,000,000 property site in San Francisco for the establishment of a store in this city. Henry Rosenfeld, San Francisco capitalist, owner of the site, refused to confirm the report but admitted negotiations between himself and Schlesinger had taken place. Schlesinger recently incorporated a $25,000,000 department store project in Oakland, Portland and Los Angeles. The department store financier is now in Los Angeles.

Daily Radio Report Coming From Japan

TOKIO, June 9.—The Japanese government announced plans today for the broadcasting of a 200 word news report from the IWAKI wireless station beginning June 15. The report will contain a summary of the important news of Japan and the far east gathered by the Toho News Agency operating under the auspices of the department of communications. Broadcasting will start at 10 o'clock nightly and a wave length of 14,600 meters will be used. The IWAKI code call is JAA.

More Dead In Mine; Total Now Is Eight

STURGIS, Ky., June 9.—With the finding of three more bodies early today the death toll of the explosion which wrecked the mine of the Western Kentucky Coal Co. increased to eight. Five bodies were recovered late last night. Six of the dead were negroes.

Widows Join To Preserve Their Savings

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—Southern California widows have organized for their mutual protection, it was revealed here today with the filing of articles of incorporation of the Widows' Protective association.

In their statement of purposes to Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, the widows set forth that the organization is to protect common financial interests of members and to assist in recovery of money fraudulently obtained from members.

Heading the association are Mrs. Lillian P. Day, Hollywood; Mrs. Mary B. Caldwell, Los Angeles, and Gertrude Wolferman, Los Angeles.

WARRANT FOR SPORTSMAN IS ISSUED

Robert Jensen Is Accused As Result Of Outing Trip With Glendale Party

Charged with shooting ducks out of season, Robert Jensen, Glendale sports promoter, was arrested today by members of the State Fish and Game commission and released on $500 bail, as the result of a recent fishing trip to Inyo county, when he was a member of a party that included city officials and prominent Glendale business men.

The warrant, issued from a justice court at Bishop, was mailed to the Los Angeles office of the fish and game commission. The alleged offense was committed shortly after the fishing season opened the first of May. Arresting officers said they knew nothing of the incident.

Driver of Car

Jensen was driver of one of the automobiles that transported the party to Silver lake, near Mono lake in Inyo county, and it is believed that the complaining witness traced him through the license number of the machine. A number of others were riding in the car with him.

The warrant created somewhat of a furore at the city hall and was a complete surprise. Members of the party said that some of them had been shooting rabbits while on the trip, but they denied that any member of the fishing excursion had fired at or shot any ducks.

Members of the party at the time and named in the complaint included Mayor H. G. MacBain, City Manager V. B. Stone, Lew Conover, George Sarver, Frank Malonee, Charles Bowers, Sam A. Davis, former councilman; R. L. Conover, Clayton Hull and Roy Stevenson.

EIGHT CONVICTED

LONDON, June 9.—Eight men convcted of conspiracy in the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, Sirdar of Egypt, today were under sentence of death, accordng to Cairo dispatches. A chauffeur guilty of complicity was sentenced to two years.

PLAN HEARING ON WIDENING THURSDAY

Property Owners On Pacific Avenue To Appear In Action By City

One of the last steps preliminary to opening of Pacific avenue as a main thoroughfare from San Fernando road to Kenneth road is scheduled for Thursday night when a public hearing for property owners named in the condemnation action will be held before the referees in the council chamber at the city hall.

Referees in the action, appointed several months ago by the superior court, are W. E. Evans, John Robert White and M. P. Harrison. They will preside at Thursday night's hearing.

Appraisement of the property affected has been completed after a survey that has been in progress for the past six months. Various property owners will be given an opportunity to protest the appraisals at the hearing.

Covers Four Blocks

The portion of Pacific avenue to be opened extends from Broadway to Myrtle street, a distance of four blocks. A sixty-foot right-of-way is to be condemned, taking thirty feet from the property on each side. The condemnation suit also includes an additional frontage on Broadway where rounding corners will be made.

Following the hearing on Thursday night, the final report of the referees will be drafted and filed in superior court, when an order will be issued deeding the right-of-way to Glendale for the various amounts stipulated.

Ordinance Passed

The condemnation action was authorized in an ordinance adopted by the City Council in September, 1922, and the suit was filed in superior court on May 5, 1923. A long delay followed because of the difficulty in locating many of the owner-defendants to serve them with summons.

Following their appointment, the referees surveyed all of the property, interviewed many of the owners and obtained estimates from real estate men familiar with the frontage.

Desperado Loses In Conflict With State

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—Floyd Hall, San Quentin killer, today had lost an important legal skirmish with the state, following the overruling by Superior Judge John F. Pullen here late yesterday of a demurrer petition to set aside the indictment against the captured bandit, charging him with the shooting of Patrolman Clyde Nunn of the Sacramento police force.

The case was continued one week and trial will be set next Monday. Hall entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. The desperado's trial on the charge of killing H. J. Litzberg, Sacramento merchant, will open here June 29.

TWO BALLOONS MISSING IN CUP RACE

American Entry Forced Down In Atlantic Off Brest; Pilot, Aide Safe

BRUSSELS, June 9.—With the remaining American entry, "Goodyear," reported down in the Atlantic off Brest and her crew safe aboard the German freighter, "Vaterland," and another French balloon safely landed at Anneville, France, word was awaited today from two remaining entrants in the Gordon Bennett cup race.

Pilot Bienaime and his aide, M. Ravaine, brought their bag down without mishap at Anneville late Monday, according to word today. The two aeronauts of the French balloon, "Grand Charles," were picked up in the English channel late today, according to advices from Portsmouth, Eng., where they were taken to a hospital. They had been swimming for some time. The balloon sank.

The American balloon was found floating in the water. The pilot, W. T. Van Orman, and his aide, C. K. Wellan, both of Akron, were none the worse for their experience, according to a wireless report direct from the Vaterland.

The pilots of the missing balloons are all noted for their courage, and realize the greatest hazard was that their balloons might be blown out over the Atlantic ocean, but that they hoped a north air current would carry them to England.

No word of the other two balloons had been received up to 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. They were the Belgian entries piloted by Demuyler and Veenstra.

The American balloon Goodyear III, piloted by W. T. Van Orman of Akron, Ohio, which came down in the ocean today, covered the longest distance of any entry, with more than 700 kilometers, but the Gordon Bennett rules do not recognize ocean landings.

This puts the Italian pilot, Calle, temporarily in the lead, with 585 kilometers.

L. A. EXCHANGE

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—The market as a whole was lower at the session of the Los Angeles stock exchange today, with the oils leading the trading. The mines were active as a list, while the public utility stocks were in fair demand.

METAL MARKET

NEW YORK, June 9.—Metal prices: Copper weak; all positions offered at $13.20@13.37½. Lead easier; spot June, $8.40 bid. Zinc quiet; all positions offered at $6.90@7. Antimony was quoted at 16½c.

LIBERTY BONDS

NEW YORK, June 9.—Close: 3½s, $101.03; first 4¼s, $102.08; second 4¼s, $101.02; third 4¼s, $102.01; fourth 4¼s, $102.28; new 4¼s, $107.06; new 4s, $103.09.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 9.—The trend of the stock market today was in the direction of lower prices. A few stocks were able to move against the trend, the most notable being Havana Electric, with its spectacular 23-point jump in the heaviest day of trading in its brief but interesting career. Until a few weeks ago no trading in this stock had taken place in about eight years, and its activity is believed to be due to buying for control by the electric bond and share corporation interests.

After light but firm trading in the first hour, the market developed a sluggish tone and transactions were again confined to a few of the active oil and motor stocks. Around noon the bears launched an attack against the high-priced motor and industrial stocks which resulted in a sharp decline in prices, but which apparently was not successful in bringing out any great quantity of stocks. Following this attack the market was again inactive.

The drop in Maxwell class "B" stock to 106½, a loss of 20 points from the recent high, was a feature of the motor shares, though Pierce-Arrow, General Motors and Studebaker displayed a reactionary tone.

Since the removal of the undeposited stocks from the trading lists the Maxwell certificates have lost all their spectacular market features. This is due in large measure to the fact that most of the short interest was in the undeposited stocks.

The buoyant situation in the oil stocks which opened the current week was almost completely missing today. Despite the fact that oil stocks have risen in the smallest proportion of any of the major groups in the last few weeks, traders sold them heavily, wiping out all of yesterday's gains.

Considerable disappointment is being expressed in the speculative district over the failure of call money rates to decline to 3½ or even 3 per cent. Banks report a heavy influx of outside funds, and meanwhile the short-term investment market and commercial paper market are inactive. It is reported that some of the banks are employing a good volume of funds in the London market, where rates are about 1 per cent higher. Such transfers of cash have been of aid to sterling exchange.

Oil stocks firmed up in the last period, and most of the losses of the day were recovered. A few of the motors joined the closing rally, but the bulk of industrial and specialty stocks, particularly independent steel shares, continued reactionary until the close. Havana Electric reached a new high, at 187, up 24 points for the day. Nash motors was reactionary and lost 11 points. The market was extremely dull and narrow in the closing period. Call money closed at 4 per cent.

Stock sales totaled 1,370,500 shares; bonds, $12,379,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Decline of the visible oil supply is worrying petroleum marketers. Los Angeles basin last week showed a decrease of 8000 barrels daily, averaging only 348,000 barrels daily.

Tomorrow the United States Steel corporation announces its unfilled orders as of the close of May. A slight drop is predicted, with the turning point in the tonnage report expected in the July statement, as forecast by market wires a month ago.

The largest single group life insurance deal ever turned in the east is reported by the Louisville & Nashville railway, which paid initial premiums on $150,000,000 for its 60,000 employes.

Reports of rains in the south started a downward movement in cotton, based on better crop reports from Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana.

On the local exchange Bank of Italy stock sold up to a new high yesterday, closing at $195.75. Southern California Edison common also advanced one point, to $114.50.

Tew record prices were paid for California lemons in eastern auction markets yesterday, some topping the $13 mark.

LIVERPOOL COTTON

LIVERPOOL, June 9.—Cotton: Spots quiet; prices steady; sales 5000 bales. Middlings, fair, 14.65; strictly good middlings, 14.15; good middlings, 13.59; strictly middlings, 13.81; middlings, 13.1; strictly low, 12.85; low, 12.51; strictly good ordinary, 12.11; good ordinary, 11.81. Futures opened quiet: July, 12.45; October, 11.93; December, 11.85; January, 11.81.

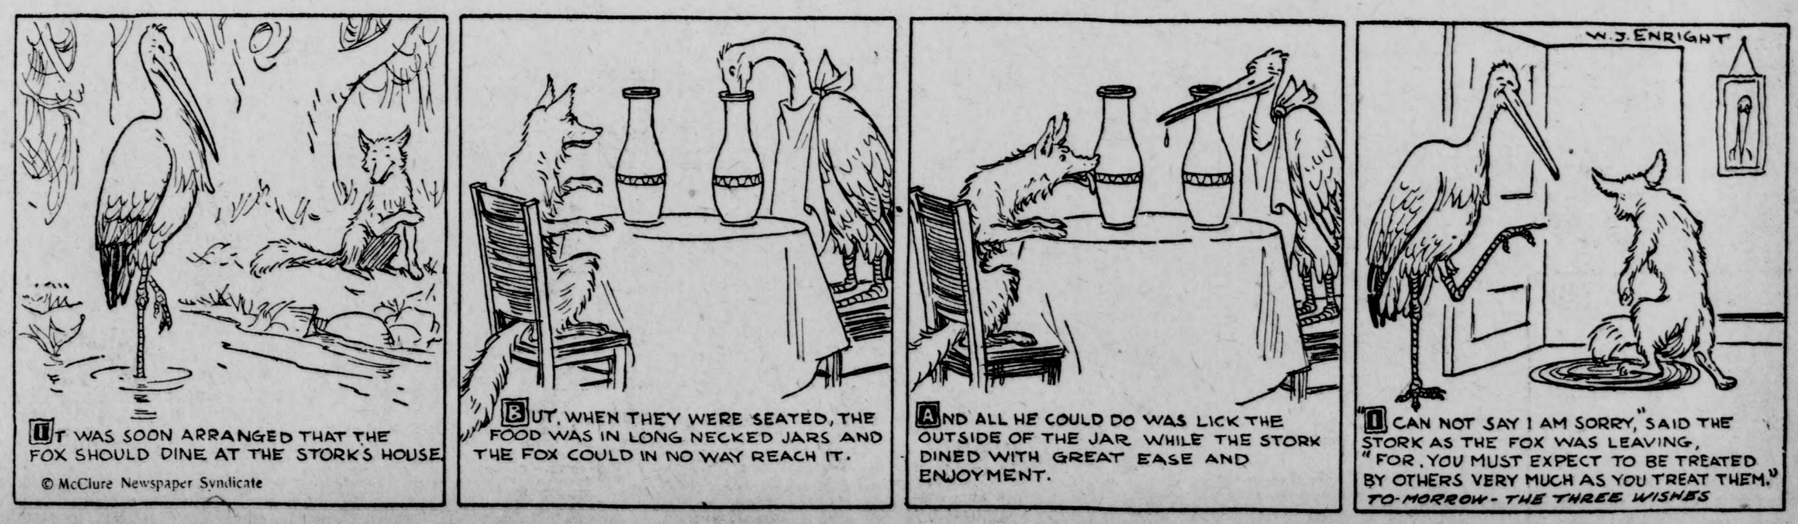
ONCE UPON A TIME — THE FOX AND THE STORK II. — BY W. J. ENRIGHT



W. J. ENRIGHT
IT WAS SOON ARRANGED THAT THE FOX SHOULD DINE AT THE STORK'S HOUSE.
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate
BUT, WHEN THEY WERE SEATED, THE FOOD WAS IN LONG NECKED JARS AND THE FOX COULD IN NO WAY REACH IT.
AND ALL HE COULD DO WAS LICK THE OUTSIDE OF THE JAR WHILE THE STORK DINED WITH GREAT EASE AND ENJOYMENT.
"I CAN NOT SAY I AM SORRY," SAID THE STORK AS THE FOX WAS LEAVING, "FOR YOU MUST EXPECT TO BE TREATED BY OTHERS VERY MUCH AS YOU TREAT THEM."

GLENDALE PROPERTY

2 THINGS 2 HAPPEN
When you inspect and get the price and terms on this home. You will either buy or you will at least try, providing you are honest with yourself and the—? and really want to buy, "I said buy."
This is a home in every sense. You could not possibly build it for anything less than $1200 more than this lady is asking for it, if sold at once. It's a real stucco, no cracks. It's about 6 months old, about 1600 feet of floor space divided into 7 spacious rooms. Solid tiled bath, also sink; one-half inch hardwood floors, fireplace, fixtures, plumbing, finish, etc., are the very best. Large patio and entrance at rear to the sun or third bedroom, beautiful breakfast room, too many closets. On full size lot, good lawn and shrubs. 2 blocks to cars and San Seelig's store, short walk to two schools. North Glendale's best section.
The owner is desirous of making a quick sale and says she would sacrifice $1200 to avoid having to show people through for an indefinite time in order to get the real worth or cost. Any reasonable terms and cash down. The price is $6600 or less. Clear lot considered in trade. During the owners' absence you may arrange to see the property by calling Glen. 3427-J or Glen. 4193-J evenings.

BELLEHURST HOME
6 ROOMS—$8500

dividual wearer, when Nature again takes up the work.

Spurn White Men

In all of their operations they are bossed by one of their own "Serangs," and woe be unto the indiscreet white man who tries to usurp or ignore the place and station of this dignitary, as several instances of ships lying for days unloaded in the harbor bear eloquent testimony.

The Tamils live about as economically as is humanly possible. In most cases no homes, neither bed, nor bedding. Their food consists entirely of a little rice curry served, the day we were there, on palm leaves laid out on the floor of the wharf, and here they squat dog-like, moulding it into little balls with their hands, before conveying it to their mouths. They appear to sleep wherever sleep overtakes them. Prone on the hard floor of the wharf; on an upturned box, or even on the bare ground. I am reliably informed that in Calcutta and several other ports in India, the British government has built "compounds" in which to house them because of their own inherent inability to take proper care of themselves.

Sanitation Poor

Singapore has been under British rule for over 100 years and it is an amazing thing that up to the present there has been practically no arrangements made for providing proper sanitation or sewage disposal. The result in a tropical city made up almost entirely of Orientals can well be imagined. The smell, at times, ascends to heaven. It is but fair to state, however, that this condition applies only to parts of the city, although sewage disposal facilities, even in the leading hotels, are most primitive.

The setting of Singapore is most beautiful. A splendid harbor permits the ships to anchor directly alongside the wharf, and the straits wend their way in and out amid a veritable archipelago of coral islands. Singapore itself, as well as the islands surrounding it, is a dense mass of tropical plant life. Inland the impenetrable depths of the jungle; closer shoreward the great rubber plantations, and the vast cocoanut groves; and along the shore a strip of golden sand shining in the sunlight.

Such sunsets it is hard to imagine! As the opalescent sky turns to gold; then orange; then into dark livid tongues of flame, while fearful dragons and genii sally forth from fantastic cloud-castles to overtake, blend into and finally melt away into mauve banks of clouds; and as the lengthening shadows come creeping over sea and land the little ferry boats plying the straits look like eerie creatures from a phantom world being drawn across the horizon to their places in the sky.

Ride in Rickshaws

Rickshaws supply the chief means of transportation, although there are plenty of American and English-made autos for hire. The residential part of the city is most distinctive, especially in the section where certain of the Chinese mansions are located. These are truly marvels of beauty of a most unique and picturesque style. Big, wonderful mansions, trimmed in pink and pale blue, and standing in spacious grounds amid a veritable riot of tropical trees, flowers and shrubbery.

A peculiar idiosyncrasy—the Chinese owners rarely live in these mansions, preferring to make their homes in a small cottage in the rear, the mansion serving merely for occasional social functions, its particular purpose being to show off the wealth and standing of the owner.

While most of the shops are owned and controlled by Chinese, with a scattering of Hindoos and Bagdad Jews, there is also a quite substantial English commercial section. This is made up of four and five story buildings fronting on and surrounding a wide central plaza. The Raffles and Europe hotels are also substantial and commodious structures.

Tree-Lined Roads

Good roads lead out into the country and in an American car we bowled along through the tropical woodland to the Sultunate of Johore, twenty-one miles distant. The road led through countless groves of tall, stately cocoanuts, and plantation after plantation of rubber trees; through great rice paddies, and native grass villages filled with lazy, staring natives, clad, half-clad, and unclad. Fruiting pineapples, growing close to the ground, spread over wide acres, and as we round a turn the livid colors of the "Flame of the Forest" tree flash before us. And finally we speed across the long bridge that dams up the strait at this point, thus joining Singapore and Johore.

I stated that Singapore was the farthermost southerly point of Asia but in point of fact this is not absolutely accurate. Previous to the building of the bridge Singapore was an island separated by less than half a mile of water from the mainland. Johore is on the mainland at the very tip of the Malay peninsula. It is under the rule of the Sultan of Johore, with Great Britain serving in an advisory (?) capacity. Great Britain certainly understands the gentle art of governing her various possessions.

We visited the sultan's palace; tramped through his wonderful gardens; looked in on his Moslem church; took some pictures; paid our respects, and were off down the long boulevard, shaded by wide-spreading banyan and other trees with unpronounceable names, that skirt the limpid waters of the strait here, and made our return to the ship by a road that has been cut recently, through the very heart of the jungle.

Dredging for Tin

Agents of the Yukon Gold, a subsidiary of the Guggenheims, came with us from San Francisco to Singapore, and somewhere back of these jungles they are now applying the "elevated dredge" methods previously used in California for dredging gold, to dredging for Singapore tin.

So, through seas of billowing glass we nose our way northward through the straits, to Penang. Here again the British hold rule, and of American residents there are nine; five that work, and four missionaries. Here, too, the Chinese influence, though still pronounced, is beginning to wane, and the Fez caps of the Mohammedan come into evidence.

We arrived in port on the Malay New Year, and many and varied were the incidents of unique ceremonial and custom seen during the day. Here, too, is the famous Chinese "Snake Temple," wherein a few tame snakes are seen, twined in the branches of diminutive trees and, without batting an eye, the native priest tells you how the snakes from the surrounding hills come in hundreds to the temple to make obeisance, or whatever it is a snake does when he gets "religion," on every recurring anniversary of the birth of the patron god of the temple.

See Buddhist Temple

Also we visit the really remarkable Ayer-Item Chinese Buddhist temple, which is in reality a veritable village of temples, each set on the summit of a series of ascending stairways. Later in the evening we visit the botanical gardens and chat with the wild monkeys, underneath the trees.

Meantime our ship has been busily taking on great bars of tin bullion, and tons upon tons of rubber, and we are all greatly relieved when we push out again into the open sea, with its life-saving breeze.

Westward, ever westward our course leads. Straight out into the great Bay of Bengal. On the afternoon of the third day the long shoreline of Sumatra rises to port, and the following morning Ceylon emerges out of the mist off our starboard quarter.

Stop at Colombe

A long languorous, glorious afternoon is spent feasting our aesthetic appetite on the ever-changing combination of shimmering sea; opalescent sky, and tropical landscape. Just as the sun, like a great fiery ball, drops into the western sea, we pushed our way into the breakwater at Colombe.

Our stay here was altogether too brief, as we desired greatly to visit Kandy, the ancient capital, and to see more of the interior of this wonderful island. Here Chinaman ceases to reign, and the Mussulman is in full glory.

Ceylon is noted for its precious and semi-precious gems. Rubies, sapphires, pearls, amethysts, zireens—all kinds; all sizes, all prices. The Mohammedan sells them! Sells them? What an aspersion it is to call the real estate man of California "strong-arm" salesman! In the presence of these chaps he is a mute, insipid nonentity. The Singhalese meets you as you step off the launch; he lays siege to you as you pass his shop. He abjures, he entreats, he solicits, he implores, he cajoles, he intrigues, with choking voice and with tears coursing down his swarthy cheeks he expresses his solicitude for your economic welfare.

Prices Fluctuate

He solemnly assures you that his price—that has been raised two or three hundred per cent for the occasion—is heartbreakingly low. In fact such a price means bankruptcy to him and it is only his interest in you that prompts it, and then finding he is not making satisfactory progress on this basis he asks, "Master, what you give?" and utterly unabashed winds up by giving the article to you at your own figure, meanwhile laughing silently to himself, I fancy, at the plendid profit he has made. And so it seems to go all over the Orient. They love to bargain, to haggle, and to lie!

We made a hurried run inland for a distance, through the cocoanut, bread fruit, and "Jack-fruit" trees, out to the Hindoo Buddhist temple. This is assuredly one of the most beautiful temples in the Orient, at least as far as interior decorations are concerned. Its walls are all illuminated with decorations taken from the life of Buddha Guatama, and life-like figures of the founder of Buddhism adorn various spaces of the interior.

That Permanent Wave

We spent some time visiting the cinnamon gardens, and riding about over the wide, well-kept streets of Colombe. Here Lipton has one of his principal tea depots; tea, ivory and gems being among the chief products of the island.

For some unknown reason Great Britain has seen to it that Colombe is kept up much better than Singapore or Penang, and if I were coming again to the Orient should plan a stay of two or three months in this beautiful island of Ceylon. But duty calls; and we push out again into the Arabian sea, bound for Egypt and the pyramids.

Meantime the lady from Amarillo, Texas, who sits at our table, has had her hair trimmed again, and the wave still remains. Look at it; there she waves!

URGES TOWNS JOIN WITH GLENDALE

Valley Communities Should Annex With This City, Says C. L. Mead

Annexation of the Canada valley communities of Montrose, La Crescenta and Verdugo City to Glendale was urged before a meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce by C. L. Mead, who declared that the only logical method of solving the problem of future water supply is by joining with this city.

The proposed merger of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce and the La Crescenta Improvement association, which was to have led to a move to incorporate the three communities into one city of the sixth class, received a severe jolt when the Montrose body voted to table the revised constitution and by-laws.

Committee Is Chosen

A committee composed of C. J. Reinhard, F. B. Turner and F. L. Howard has been selected to investigate various proposals for incorporation, annexation or formation of a water district under the county.

Another group, comprised of H. F. Alden, C. G. Howard and W. A. Evans, has been appointed by President A. W. Clark of the chamber to discuss with directors of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co. the proposed refinancing of the organization and development of additional supplies of water.

Mark S. Collins, urging incorporation as a city separate from Glendale, declared that the interests of the Canada valley would be safeguarded by installation of a municipally-owned water system.

Club Closes Season With Social Affair

and expressed the desire to participate in its activities.

Members and guests were then privileged to hear musical numbers by Madrigal singers. Mrs. R. A. Littlefield sang "Day Break" (words by Longfellow and music by Malison), "Thou and I" (Ream), and "The Rose O'er the Pool" (Chadwick). Mrs. Walter Thompson sang "Goodbye Sweet Day" and "Sapphic Ode" (Brahms); and Mrs. Harry McMullin, "The Garden of Your Heart" and "The Little Rose." Mrs. Gertrude C. Erb was the accompanist.

Librarian Remembered

Mrs. Hoffman closed the affair with her final message to club members. As an expression of her appreciation for the devoted and efficient servics of Mrs. C. L. Viereck, librarian and chairman of publicity, Mrs. Hoffman presented Mrs. Viereck with a gift.

Later Mrs. H. V. Henry, president-elect, was introduced and received the gavel. In a brief talk she made a plea for the co-operation and interest of every club member. She announced a board meeting for June 24 at her home on Harvey drive.

SAVED FROM DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Lieut. Franklin Rose, army pilot, and Corp. Claude Flack, his observer, were alive today thanks to quick action of the Crissy field rescue boat on Sunday, which picked up the two men out of the Golden Gate after their plane had nose-dived from a 1000-foot altitude.

ANCIENT HISTORY

ENID, Okla., June 9.—The acres of Oklahoma, where millions of dollars of oil have been found, once were sold for about 2½ cents an acre, according to George Rainey, Enid postmaster and Oklahoma historian.

ATWATER RESIDENT IS KILLED IN CRASH

Miss Margaret St. John Is Thrown From Seat of Automobile Under Wheels of Truck as Car Hits Tree

Thrown from her seat when the automobile in which she was a passenger struck a tree, Miss Margaret St. John, 34, of 3322 Casitas avenue, Atwater district, was instantly killed as she fell beneath the wheels of a heavy sand truck at the corner of Verdugo road and San Fernando boulevard, late yesterday afternoon.

Three others in the wrecked automobile, Mrs. Charles Gross of Compton, driver of the car; Mrs. Emma Whipple, mother of Miss St. John and Carl Layman, age 10 years, escaped alive. Mrs. Gross suffered a broken leg as a result of the collision.

As the automobile in which the four persons were riding skidded off the highway and against the tree trunk, Miss St. John was hurled over the side of the car, falling on the road directly in front of the moving truck. Her head was crushed by one of the wheels of the sand carrier and she died instantly.

Ben Astriam, 2225 North Middleton avenue, Huntington Park, driver of the truck, was exonerated of all blame in the accident by Detective Lieutenant Davidson of Lincoln Heights station who investigated. Miss St. John's body is at the Lincoln Heights mortuary.

Small Girl Injured

Jumping from the rear platform of an ice-wagon in front of a passing touring car, Rose Mary Hatfield, 7 years old, was knocked down and severely hurt while playing on Larga avenue, Atwater district, yesterday. She had been riding on the rear of the ice-wagon when, without looking, she hopped off, only to find herself in front of the other automobile, traveling at a low rate of speed.

The girl, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hatfield, 3413 Larga avenue, was treated by a physician at her home for bad cuts and bruises about her head.

Seek Old Newspapers

Old newspapers for the Boy Scout newspaper drive should be left at 3202 Glendale boulevard before Saturday of this week, Scoutmaster Peterman announced today. Papers collected by the Scouts will be sold and the proceeds used to buy athletic equipment for the Atwater troop.

Returns To Duties

P. E. Lipscomb, Atwater realtor, is back at his desk in the Arthur Gilman offices, after a bad attack of influenza, which kept him confined to his bed for nearly a week.

Teacher Is Honored

Miss Audrey Clinton, teacher at the Atwater grammar school, was honored at a shower given by Miss Rosalind Gates, principal of the school, Saturday. The affair, attended by a group of fourteen friends of Miss Clinton, took place at the home of Miss Gates, at 1919 Cerro Gordo avenue.

We Sponsor the Memorial Hall Bond Election June 16, 1925

—BECAUSE—

1—Our soldiers and sailors—the men and women who offered and gave their lives in all America's wars—are worthy the modest memorial planned.

2.—The hall will provide a center and school for patriotism, an efficient aid to the children's schools which we earnestly support. It will provide a home for any and all service organizations desiring to use it. At present almost all such societies meet here, there, and anywhere they can, rent and overhead holding down their membership and funds needed for civic and patriotic endeavors.

3.—Glendale is one of the very few cities similar in size and ambition which has not erected an adequate token of appreciation to its veterans.

4.—The memorial—neither ornate nor luxurious but substantial and serviceable—will be built, owned and controlled by the city and located where city authorities may determine.

5.—The American Legion, true to its promise, is turning in the site voted them two years ago to be used or sold as may be deemed best. The Patriotic and Memorial Hall association, if made custodian of the memorial, plans to maintain and care for it.

6.—The cost is ridiculously small in proportion to the great benefits to be derived from this great civic asset. To the average taxpayer—less than "a pint of ice cream per year."

7.—Because we know the people did not forget their sons and daughters during the trying days of war and steadfastly believe they will not forget them now.

—VOTE YES FOR THE MEMORIAL BONDS—

NO MEMORIALS—EXCEPT CEMETERIES!

Everybody knows that Glendale is the fastest growing city in the country, and there are few, if any, of its citizens who prefer to live anywhere else.

Like every town, city, hamlet, village, or whatever you wish to label the municipality under discussion, it has faults.

There is only ONE that we aim to discuss here. It is not so much a fault as an omission, one easily and creditably remedied if our citizens will but see it that way.

Some Sunday, or at any convenient time, if you are interested, take a little tour about our beautiful city and count the number of patriotic monuments to be found within the city limits.

Not one single thing of the sort in any shape, form or manner can we think of off-hand, except, possibly, many simple stones in our cemeteries, marking the resting places of our departed heroes.

True, the city can exist quite comfortably, profitably and progressively without memorials.

But is THAT civic pride and spirit?

There are very few municipalities that don't have some sort of patriotic feature within their confines.

Glendale, with no less than eleven patriotic organizations among its citizens, certainly should have some such memorial to point out when taking the visitor on a round of inspection.

Let's not lose sight of sentiment altogether in our lusty prosperity.

Especially when the plan for a Memorial hall now on foot means LESS than 2 CENTS per $100 to the taxpayer.

We should build a Memorial hall—not simply for the legion, or the Spanish War veterans, or the G. A. R., but for ALL patriotic organizations in the city of Glendale, and for the principles and memories they represent.

Give it a little serious thought and you cannot fail to reach the conclusion that it is the sensible and just THING to DO.

It is a very easy way to display a substantial token of our esteem for those, living and dead, who have made sacrifices for our country in her times of need. Get out and VOTE and vote YES on the Memorial hall bond issue, June 16.

GIRL SCOUTS PICK CAMP ON LAKE

Glendale Troop Will Spend Its Vacation Outing In Mountain Park

Glendale Girl Scouts are to spend the third week in August in Frazier Mountain park, on an attractive lake site provided by Harry G. MacBain and A. L. Baird, owners of the park. Mrs. Anna L. La Grange, local Girl Scout executive, states that Mr. MacBain and Mr. Baird have provided the girls with a camping site near the fifth lake. The site is to be provided with water and all sanitary conveniences.

In addition, the girls will have use of the tennis court and croquet grounds, the privilege of lake swimming and will have the use of the park pavilion. Plans are to have a trained nurse accompany the girls and their leaders to look after the health of the party.

A group of fathers of the girls visited the park last Sunday and report it an ideal outing place.

Director Inspiring

Mrs. La Grange, who assumed duties of Glendale Girl Scout director June 1, is very enthusiastic over her work and is proving herself an inspiring leader. Last week she was a special guest at a dinner for eighteen captains and thirteen lieutenants of Pasadena Girl Scout council.

Upon the invitation of Miss Bobby Reed, Pasadena executive, Mrs. La Grange attended a gathering of 250 Scouts and as many patrons at Camp Duquesne in Little Dalton canyon, Glendora. This camp is a Girl Scout playground and Mrs. La Grange enjoyed staying over night at the camp and learning of camp activities. During her stay seventy-five girls passed the tenderfoot test and received pins. The Pasadena Scout camp is to be open during all July.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

What interests people nowadays? Religion, recreation, taxes, politics, radio, what? What is the common topic of the times? Crime, liquor, love, society, what?

The nearest approach to common appeal, the writer believes, is athletics. Recreation such as is provided by theatres, dance halls and beaches comes in a poor second. Radio and society, love and liquor, politics and religion come dragging along, not in the order mentioned, perhaps, but they do not begin to interest the reading public half as much as baseball, boxing, football, track, tennis, golf and other sports.

Therefore, it appears to the writer that the best way to popularize society, religion, radio, and other good things, is to scramble a few athletic contests into them. Already society goes in for polo, yachting, golf and tennis. Churches have their baseball and basketball teams, and radio only recently has taken to chronicling sporting events.

Likewise, newspapers must devote a page or more to sports. The Glendale Evening News has the best writers available in Davis J. Walsh, sports editor of International News Service; Lawrence Perry, noted Consolidated Press Association correspondent; John B. Foster, who not only writes official baseball, but all about baseball, and many others. Locally A. S. Hall of The Evening News staff and Ross M. Russell, Jr., who covers high school events, among other staff writers, make The Glendale Evening News' sports columns worth while every day.

However, church news, theatrical reviews and studio gossip, school events and society and club doings are not neglected in the columns of The Glendale Evening News. And all the important world events are chronicled, while a resume of local, Los Angeles and Southern California news is contained in this complete newspaper which has the best of features, latest market reports and a complete editorial page.

You should recommend The Glendale Evening News to the newcomers. You should aid in making it more complete by telephoning the reporters any local events. The merchants of Glendale co-operate handsomely. Your personal interest is the only thing which will make this paper better. For which, we thank you!

Tow-headed young Professor Scopes, christened John Thomas down in Tennessee, is lionized in New York because of his defense of the evolution theory. His defiance of man-made law against teaching that first life began with the amoeba has made him a hero.

But how about people who object to other laws, equally questionable, who are serving terms in prison? In Japan kissing is condemned. In America it is approved in real life as well as in the "reel." Burmese bump their heads together in salutation, but try it in this land of ours and you would be subject for the psychopathic ward. In Germany numerous "nude" cults have sprung up and the greatest coliseum in Berlin is devoted nightly to gymnastic classes dressed only in bare skins. In America a printed picture of an undraped model is seized upon as poisoh.

Without complaint, but with a certain degree of wonderment, just what is the answer to these conflicting views? It would appear that customs make laws, for here in America it is necessary to drive on the right hand side of the highway, while in Europe the left hand side is proper.
